U.S. Puts New Type Satellite In Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A Syncom communications satellite rocketed into orbit today but loss of radio contact with the spacecraft prevented trackers from determining if it had become the world's first satellite to seemingly stand still in space.

A program official reported in midmorning, several hours after launching, that radio signals were lost 13 seconds after a small payload motor fired with the intention of kicking Syncom into a synchronous orbit—one in which the vehicle appears to hover over one spot on earth because its speed matches that of the earth's rotation.

The satellite was launched at 12:35 a.m. by a three-stage Delta rocket which performed perfectly in drilling the craft into a giant egg-shaped orbit at about 22,800 miles an hour.

Syncom coasted up, gradually losing speed, until it reached a point about 22,300 miles high. Then a timing device ignited the small rocket at 5:42 a.m.

The firing was to take the satellite out of the elliptical path and shove it onto a circular course at that altitude.

"The motor fired successfully," the official said, "but radio signals stopped 13 seconds later. We regained a brief signal about 7 a.m., but nothing more. We may be in a beautiful orbit and just encountering transmission difficulties."

But he said the kick rocket might have knocked the craft off course.

There was a possibility, he said, that temperature in the satellite was too hot, upsetting communications. As a possible means of solving such a problem, he reported, the spacecraft systems were turned off and will be restored by ground signal later.

The trusty three-stage Douglas Delta rocket, scoring its 15th straight satellite launching success, blasted off at 12:35 a.m. (Eastern Standard Time) and drilled Syncom into a highly elliptical orbit at 22,800 miles an hour. The mechanical marvel coasted upward for 5 hours and 7 minutes until it reached near the 22,300-mile altitude. Then a small solid fuel rocket was fired by a timing device to change the orbit from elongated to circular at this height.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that the two critical early phases of flight—the launching and the firing of the small rocket—had occurred.

But it said that several hours of tracking would be required to determine how successfully the ignition of the small rocket had been.

The firing occurred high above the equator between Madagascar and the East African Coast. During the long coast period, the satellite's speed had slowed to less than 3,500 miles an hour. The burst of power from its motor was aimed at increasing this to about 6,870 miles, equaling the speed of the earth's rotation.

To make most effective use of ground communications stations, scientists want the satellite to hang like a star over the equator between South America and Africa.

Hydrogen peroxide gas jets, like those U.S. astronauts use to control the attitude of their spacecraft in orbit, were to be fired by ground command to help the satellite drift westward to the desired spot, a maneuver intended to take about two weeks. Once Syncom gets there, the gas jets would keep it there.

Limited communications experiments were scheduled to start about five days after launching.

Kennedy Proposes Plan To Aid Nation's Youth

Cites Need To Develop, Use Talents

Asks Creation Of Conservation Corps For Work In Parks

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy wrapped together in a single unprecedented package today all his proposals to aid the nation's youth. He sent it to Congress with word that "our youth deserve and require a better chance."

"We must afford them every opportunity to develop and use their talents," Kennedy said. "If we serve them better now, they will serve their nation better when the burdens are theirs alone."

Accordingly, Kennedy asked Congress for legislation and financing on a broad scale.

He bid for a "Youth Conservation Corps" to work in parks and forests. He urged creation of a sort of home town youth corps. He called again for a domestic peace corps—it would be named the National Service Corps. He asked that the existing Peace Corps overseas be expanded by nearly one-half.

And the President emphasized need for action on juvenile delinquency, family welfare, education and health and physical fitness.

The total price tag for all the projects is obscure, even though Kennedy has recommended all of them before in general if not specific terms.

Kennedy buttressed the plea for action with figures and arguments he has used many times. He spoke of the mounting birth rate, the over-crowding of schools, the

Clinic Seen Near For Mental Aid

LISBON — Plans to put into operation a Columbiana County mental health clinic, as a result of a campaign which netted $15,900, will be launched at a meeting of the County Mental Health Association Wednesday.

Judge Louis Tobin, general chairman of the drive in which $22,000 has been sought, said the meeting will be held in his offices at the Courthouse.

HE SAID a constitution for a clinic organization will be drawn up and a Board of Directors nominated and chosen.

The board will seek to obtain funds from the state on a matching basis to provide clinic personnel and a site for the offices, he said.

The state program calls for matching county funds on a two-to-one basis.

The new clinic would be located at Lisbon, and would have a psychiatrist, psychologist, case worker and receptionist - clerk, according to original plans.

MAIN OBJECTIVE of the clinic is to provide a countywide mental treatment program for emotionally or mentally disturbed residents before their problems become severe enough to require hospitalization.

Similar local clinics have been established in other Ohio counties and elsewhere in the nation as a fundamental step in meeting the growing problem of mental illness, Judge Tobin said.

Contributions still are being accepted, and may be mailed or presented to Leland Firestone at the Firestone Bank at Lisbon.

Rhodes Cited On Big Pay To His Staff

Sen. King Points To $1,000 Paid To Private Secretary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Statehouse was rocking gently today, exactly one month after the inauguration of Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes, in reaction from charges the governor is paying outrageous salaries to his personal staff.

The word "outrageous" came from Senate Minority Leader Frank W. King, Toledo Democrat. His comment in a Senate speech was based on a newspaper article written by Richard G. Zimmerman, Columbus correspondent for the Lorain Journal and the Mansfield News-Journal.

King was most aghast, he said, over the $1,000-a-month salary for Miss Emma Scholz "in the middle of an austerity program when thousands of state employes are being lopped off the payroll under the guise of economy."

While the record shows Miss Scholz was paid at the rate of $1,000 a month for her first half-month as the governor's private secretary, the record also shows that she will be paid only at the rate of $825 a month in her pay check she will receive Friday. That means she will receive $9,900 a year aginst her $7,900 a year when she was secretary to Auditor Rhodes.

Zimmerman pointed out that the top salary ever received by former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's secretary was $7,500.

John M. McElroy, a $15,000-a-year assistant to Rhodes, issued a statement designed to counteract King's blast. He asserted that in comparable periods at the start of the DiSalle and Rhodes administrations, DiSalle's payroll was higher than Rhodes'.

McElroy said Rhodes' payroll for two weeks ending next Friday will be $4,344, against $4,646 for the comparable period under DiSalle.

The administration aide said during the period in question DiSalle had 16 on his payroll with salaries ranging from $275 to $1,000 a month, compared with 12 for Rhodes, with salaries ranging from $288 to $1,250 a month.

Fair Board Sets Sunday Date Despite Opposition

LISBON — Columbiana County's annual fair will be held Aug. 22-26, including a Sunday for the first time in 118 years, according to official action by the Fair Board which faced protests over the Sunday date at a meeting Wednesday night.

The Board of Directors of the Columbiana County Agriculture Society, fair sponsors, originally selected the dates — in a split vote — in a bid to achieve greater attendance in the six - day fete.

The group at last night's meeting voiced opposition to the Sunday session largely on religious grounds, citing beliefs in the Sabbath as a day of rest.

One board member pointed out those connected with the fair have to work on the Sunday prior to the traditional Monday opening any way.

The delegation included James Vincent and Ken Howells of the Winona Ruritan Club; Albert Hartly of the Fairfield Harvesters Farm Bureau Council; Robert Starbuck and Jessie Starbuck of the Salem Friends Meeting; William Cope, Louis Kirk and Floyd Sidwell of the Middleton Friends Meeting, and the Rev. James McCollam of the Salineville Ministerial Association.

Twenty - two letters of protest, representing from one to 20 persons in each, were also read.

The board, which includes 10 members and an honorary member, submits dates for the fair to the State Fair Association, which in turn gives approval in line with a schedule which does not conflict with other adjacent fairs.

The board took no official action on a proposal by representatives of a reactivated Civil War unit to have a reenactment of a Civil War battle at the fair race

Tragic Plane Crash Blamed On Weather

Apparently Broke Apart In Storm, U.S. Prober Says

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Blustery Florida weather got the tentative blame today for a Northwest Orient Airlines jetliner's plunge into the Everglades with loss of 43 lives.

A federal investigator who would not be quoted by name said the plane apparently "broke apart in a thunderstorm. It just wrenched apart."

Rain and gusty winds ruffled Florida Tuesday, the day of the crash, unroofing some dwellings and prompting tornado warnings in north and central portions of the state.

The Civil Aeronautics Board sent investigators to the marshy scene of the four-engine Boeing 720B's tragic plunge, nine miles from the nearest road, but said its findings would not be made public for several days.

The CAB and other investigative agencies apparently were not prepared to say the airplane blew apart in flight. But officers who explored the crash scene said bodies and other substantial debris of the crash were scattered within a radius of more than 200 yards of the shattered aircraft.

St. Clair Project Nears Bid Stage

The present timetable indicates the State Highway Department will be ready to call for contractors' bids in late May or early June on the $400,000 project to construct a 36-foot concrete roadway on outer St. Clair Ave., city officials and Chamber of Commerce representatives learned Wednesday in a conference at City Hall.

The estimate of the contract date was made by Robert Jenkins, one of a delegation of officials from the Highway Department's Division 11 office who came to East Liverpool to consult on several questions, including a proposal to widen Lisbon St. Hill and eliminate the curves.

JENKINS was in a party that included Earl Nelson, new Division 11 engineer, and Levi (Jack) Kimble, his assistant. Jenkins is design and planning engineer for the division office at New Philadelphia.

They conferred with Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Safety-Service Director Robert Owen, Engineer George Bloomgren, Councilmen Kenneth C. Berg and S. James Welch, Council Clerk Lawrence Zollinger, Street Supt. W. M. Laughlin and Atty. Francis H Lang, highway committee chairman, and E. R. Chandler, executive manager, representing the Chamber.

Jenkins set the tentative contract date for the St. Clair project in discussing the progress of the planning and enabling legislation which would be required of Council.

The plans were prepared by Glaus, Pyle & Schomer of Youngstown and Akron, a firm of consulting engineers, under contract with the city.

AT LEAST one more legislative step would be required on the city's part — an ordinance levying an assessment of $10 a front foot on the abutting property.

A majority of Council agreed on the assessment measure late in 1962 after petitions were presented agreeing to the charge. They were signed by persons representing more than 51 per cent of the abutting property.

The St. Clair improvement will stretch from Princeton Ave. on the North Side to the city limits near Cain St. It will include a complete storm sewer system.

The city already has a promise

New Regime Forces Battle Red Holdouts

Heaviest Fighting In Iraqi Capital Since Saturday

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Forces of Iraq's new revolutionary regime battled Communist holdouts in the streets of Baghdad through the night.

Rifles, machine guns and, occasionally, heavier tank weapons were heard in the center of the city from about 9:30 p.m. until 5:30 a.m.

It was the heaviest fighting in the Iraqi capital since Saturday night, the second night of the revolution that overthrew and killed Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem.

Urged by clandestine Red radios to stage an armed uprising against the new anti-Communist regime, Iraqi Reds have held out in pockets in heavily populated sections of Baghdad. Troops and civilians have been moving in systematically to clean out the pockets.

Midland C. Of C. Sets Dollar Days

Plans for the semi-annual Dollar Days next week and a discussion on a token parking plan for shoppers highlighted the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Midland Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night.

Charles R. Schmitt, president, also announced his new committees.

Dollar Days will be held Tuesday through Thursday with stores open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Tuesday and 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. on Wednesday and Thursday, Thomas Fannin, Retail Division chairman, reported. Participating members will display banners and cards.

THROUGH THE co-operation of the borough, free parking will be available Tuesday and Wednesday on Midland Ave.

The token parking plan was explained to the board by Dr. Zanvel Sigal, chairman of the Municipal Authority.

Under the plan, penny slots on meters would be eliminated and merchants would give tokens to customers, encouraging residents to shop locally.

If the plan is adopted in Midland, the borough is willing to change meter heads in the business section to accept tokens, Dr. Sigal said. Those installed on the new lot in the 700 block on Midland Ave. now will accept tokens, he said.

—:—

DR. SIGAL said bids will be opened soon for a new lot near the Steelworkers Hall, and the authority has options on two other lots.

Schmitt asked the Retail Division now headed by Howard Nophsker to confer with Dr. Sigal on costs of the plan.

Five new members were enrolled. They are John Small, George MacLeod, James Luckino, Dr. Sigal and Mike Gengerella.

Schmitt reported Crucible still has under consideration the Chamber's request to pay on two days instead of one in each pay period.

Mrs. Ruby Ingraham reported on suggestions for beautifying Midland Ave. for the Pennsylvania Chamber's community development contest. Anthony Martell said he would obtain the cost of obtaining artificial flowers to be placed in brackets along the street.

—:—

THE BOARD also decided to contact the State Chamber and various steel negotiators on the need to avert a possible steel strike.

The committees appointed by Schmitt, with the chairmen listed first, are:

Retail — Nophsker, Fannin, Martell, Joe Jonas, David Silverman, Henry Johnson, Harold Harris, Helen Parker and Joe Paradiso; Christmas lighting — Ernest Gengerella Jr., William Kennedy, Paul McGeehan, Martell, Pete Tucker, Leslie B. Roach, Anthony Vohar, Donald Green.

Christmas parade and home decorations — Harry Hulton, Mrs. Roy Paisley, Nophsker, William Robertson, William Verzella and David Schwerha; public relations — Earl Rankin, executive secretary; memberships — Miss Margaret Boston, Mrs. Ingraham, Paradiso, Ernest Dostilak, Gengerella and Marvin Bahm.

Fourth of July — Glenn Dawson, Robertson, Danny Borato, Charles L. Finley, George Van Lehn and Henry Cannon Jr.; comprehensive planning — McGeehan, Albert Silverberg, Mrs. Ingraham, Finley and Donald Green; tax — Dr. Thomas Boyd, Bahm, Vohar and Dr. Frank Benedict.

Community picnic and Chamber picnic — Miss Boston, Mrs. Petrush, Kennedy, Mrs. Francis Vallera and Mrs. Louis Hallett, and executive — Chamber officers.

FRANK ROBERTS
Appointed For August Event.

Frank Roberts Given St.Rocco Fete Leadership

Frank Roberts, 38, of 425 Broadway, Wellsville, has been named chairman of the annual St. Rocco Festival sponsored by Wellsville Knights of Columbus Council 507.

Roberts, an employe of the inspection department at the Crucible Steel Co. at Midland, was appointed at a meeting of the K. of C. Tuesday night.

His appointment was announced by James McPeak, grand knight. The event is scheduled the week of Aug. 5. Roberts announced the American Funland Amusement Co. of Ravenna has been signed to provide the rides for the festival and a New Castle firm has been contracted to present a fireworks show.

The event is held to honor a patron saint of the Italian people. Committees will be announced later.

William Chema, council activities chairman, said a pre-Lenten socail will be held Feb. 23 for members and wives.

A program on golf will be presented at the meeting next Tuesday night at 8. Lunch will be served.

Patrol Reports 2 District Crashes

Moderate damage resulted from two area traffic mishaps Wednesday — one near Calcutta and the other near Wellsville, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

A car operated by Morris W. Barton, 46, of R. D. 2, headed south on Ashland Pl. about 300 yards southwest of St. Clair Ave. Ext., and one driven northeast by Robert W. Saxton, 33, of R. D. 2, collided, officers said.

No one was hurt in the mishap which occurred at 5 p. m., the patrol reported.

A truck, headed south on Township Rd. 1006 and driven by Clarence S. Clark, 41, of Wellsville R. D. 1, and a northbound auto driven by Marion L. Patterson, 26, of Pleasant Valley Rd. collided about a third of a mile north of Wellsville yesterday morning.

Neither driver was injured and damage was moderate, officers said.

Of the 40 home runs Yankee Ralph Terry allowed in 299 innings last season, 22 were hit in his 23 winning games. Eleven were hit in 12 losing games and 7 were hit in games in which other pitchers figured in the decision.

For Children Of Employes

Merit Scholarship Exam Set In Crucible's Program

Children of Crucible Steel Co. employes may take the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test March 5 or March 9, depending on the school, to be considered for Crucible Merit Scholarships.

Three scholarships, awards ranging in monetary value up to $1,500 a year or $6,000 for four years, will be available. The amount of money for each will be determined on a need basis, a spokesman at the Midland Works said today.

Students are eligible to compete for a scholarship if they are a second-semester junior or a first-semester senior, children of a Crucible employe who is an active employe or was at the time of his retirement or death or served as a regular employe for not less than three years prior to his child's graduation from high school and is a citizen of the U. S. or was at the time of his death.

Initial tests will be given Tuesday, March 5, at East Liverpool, Wellsville, and Midland High Schools and Saturday, March 9, at Beaver Area and Beaver Falls High Schools. Interested students should contact their principals.

Students taking the tests will be asked to pay a candidate's fee of $1 to cover the cost. An additional 50 cents will be asked by Beaver Area schools for teachers working overtime. Beaver Falls School will not have the additional charge.

All will be scored by the National Merit Scholarship Corp. Students who qualify as semi-finalists will be asked to take a second test. Those passing the second test will be eligible for a number of schoolarships.

A selection committee appointed by the NMSC will name up to three Crucible Merit Scholarship winners each year from eligible candidates who gain finalist status.

Awards will be based on scholarship records, recommendations, test scores, extra-curricular, out-of-school interests and accomplishments and other information indicating further promise.

Final winners will be free to select any accredited college and any course of study approved by that college. No Crucible winner will receive less than $250 a year regardless of costs or ability to pay.

Recognizing that costs of educating a student frequently exceed actual tuition charged, Crucible will grant a supplement of up to $500 a year directly to any college a scholarship winner chooses to attend, if that college is not state-supported.

Winners must make arrangements with the college and meet its entrance requirements, to enter college not later than the fall term following graduation from high school, to make normal progress from year-to-year and to maintain good standing. Although honor grades are not required, winners have a responsibility to do scholarship level college work.

The company said its scholarship program established in 1960 is "an outgrowth of Crucible's general interest in education and an expression of the company's desire to recognize the outstanding educational achievements of Crucible children."

Testimony Due In Sheriff Trial On Bribe Charge

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP) —Testimony is expected to be heard today in the trial of Belmont County Sheriff George E. Neff on one of four indictment counts—a charge that he tried to solicit bribes in Barnesville.

A jury was selected and opening statements were made Wednesday as the trial got underway. Jurors were taken to nearby Fairpoint where they inspected Miller's Nite Club. This is the spot operated by Neff's deputy, Steve Miller, who allegedly tried to arrange payment of money for protection of clubs in Barnesville, a "dry" community.

In his opening statement, Prosecutor William H. Irwin said the state would prove that Neff ordered Miller to contact officers of four Barnesville clubs. He said Miller was to inform them that since Neff was being accused of receiving bribes to shut his eyes to their beer sales "he may as well be getting the money."

Defense attorney Hugo Alexander denied Neff had anything to do with the reputed contacts. He claimed a plot was afoot to remove the sheriff. The attorney said beer dealers had been complaining about Barnesville clubs buying beer in Cambridge (Guernsey County) rather than in Belmont County.

Igor Sikorsky demonstrated the first practical helicopter in the United States, in 1939.

South Side Post Will Give Dinner

Plans for a get-acquainted and Legion birthday anniversary dinner were discussed at the meeting of South Side American Legion Post 952 Wednesday night at the post home near Hookstown.

The dinner will be held March 16 with members and their wives and auxiliary members and their husbands invited. Dancing will follow.

Guest speakers will be announced later.

Joseph Yamber was enrolled as a new member. Joseph Krizan, commander, presided.

The annual ham shoot will be held April 6, Vane Morgan, chairman, announced.

It was reported the membership now is only 15 short of exceeding the quota.

Phillip Fossett, 26th District deputy commander, was a guest.

The executive committee will meet Wednesday night at the post home.

Alliance Man's Car Damaged In Wreck

A 1962 four - door sedan driven by an Alliance man was heavily damaged in a wreck on Route 30 a quarter of a mile east of Chester Wednesday afternoon at 3:15.

The Hancock County sheriff's office said Wilbur L. Huffer, 50, escaped injury. The car skidded off the berm and slammed into a guardrail. It then spun around and hit the guardrail again, deputies said. Damage was listed at $550.

Big Rig Skids, Dumps Cargo Of Steel Bars

Several bundles of steel bars ranging in weight from 800 to 1,200 pounds were dropped onto the berm of the California Hollow-West End Freeway early today when a tractor - trailer rig hit a deep rut that caused its load to spill, police reported.

The bars fell from a 1957 model rig driven by Frank Blackner, 30, of Inkster, Mich., and owned by Floyd Roberts of Allen Park, Mich., officers said.

Kenny Burt, Cannons Mills contractor and heavy equipment operator, was summoned to load the bars onto the trailer again.

The rig dumped its load about 12:02 a. m. at the freeway's temporary junction with outer Dresden Ave., officers said. Sideboards of the rig were damaged.

Blackner told police he was making a left turn off the freeway onto Dresden when the big rig skidded on icy pavement, throwing it into a deep rut on the berm.

The skid and the drop into the rut created a snapping motion in the rig, which is equipped with air suspension, and the sudden stress broke chains holding the steel bars and permitted the load to spill, officers said. Patrolman H. W. Bosworth investigated.

Modern Italian cooks are likely to make two casseroles of lasagna, one to serve right away, the other to store in the freezer. Prepared with Ricotta and Mozzarella cheese and a tomato meat sauce, plus a topping of grated Parmesan, the lasagna may be freezer-stored for a couple of months.

Flu Claims Two In Cincinnati; Schools Closed

CINCINNATI (AP)—An apparent epidemic of influenza has claimed two lives in the Cincinnati area and given thousands of schoolchildren an unpleasant holiday from classes.

Health officials said tests on samples to determine the type of virus won't be completed until Friday. "It could be some other virus," said Dr. D. A. Cockburn, assistant Cincinnati health commissioner.

The Health Department would say only that one victim was a woman and the other was a baby.

Admissions for respiratory illnesses at some hospitals were reported at three to four times normal. Some hospitals said the disease had hit parts of their staffs. Even Dr. J. Edwin Reed, Hamilton County health commission, was too sick to work Wednesday.

Most public schools in the area reported 10 to 15 per cent of their pupils absent, but the rate was more than 20 per cent at several schools. One school had almost one-third of its pupils absent.

15 Of East Firemen Attend Training Class

Fifteen members of the Liverpool Township East volunteer fire department attended a training session Wednesday night at the Dixonville fire station.

William Smith, assistant chief, conducted classes on air masks and resuscitation. Lawrence Downard screened a movie on water.

Everett Vernacini served refreshments. A business session will be held Feb. 27.

Hargraves Airs Stand At Principals Session

George Hargraves, East Liverpool High School principal, was among a number of school leaders interviewed at Pittsburgh Wednesday concerning extreme styles of dress by high school students.

Hargraves, attending the convention of the National Association of Secondary School Principals, was queried by a reporter about suspension of 71 students at North Hills High School near Pittsburgh for unorthodox haircuts and attire.

Hargraves said, "I'm in agreement with the action taken at North Hills. However, we've never had an extreme problem in our school because we've relied on individual counseling by the dean of boys and the dean of girls."

Team Of Elks Lodge Enters Area Contest

The ritual team of the Elks Lodge conducted an initiation for a class of seven candidates Wednesday night in Rochester as a "rehearsal" for its competition in the district session at Coshocton over the weekend. Twelve attended.

John Eccleston is chairman of the ritual committee. The team will compete in a field of 10 Saturday for the South East District event and about 30 members of the lodge will attend the Coshocton sessions of 14 lodges Saturday and Sunday.

Meanwhile, Past Exalted Rulers Night will be observed tonight at 8 with past rulers serving as officers with Michael Gerace, exalted ruler, in charge of the opening. Lunch will follow.

Flu Claims Two In Cincinnati; Schools Closed

CINCINNATI (AP)—An apparent epidemic of influenza has claimed two lives in the Cincinnati area and given thousands of schoolchildren an unpleasant holiday from classes.

Health officials said tests on samples to determine the type of virus won't be completed until Friday. "It could be some other virus," said Dr. D. A. Cockburn, assistant Cincinnati health commissioner.

The Health Department would say only that one victim was a woman and the other was a baby.

Admissions for respiratory illnesses at some hospitals were reported at three to four times normal. Some hospitals said the disease had hit parts of their staffs. Even Dr. J. Edwin Reed, Hamilton County health commission, was too sick to work Wednesday.

Most public schools in the area reported 10 to 15 per cent of their pupils absent, but the rate was more than 20 per cent at several schools. One school had almost one-third of its pupils absent.

15 Of East Firemen Attend Training Class

Fifteen members of the Liverpool Township East volunteer fire department attended a training session Wednesday night at the Dixonville fire station.

William Smith, assistant chief, conducted classes on air masks and resuscitation. Lawrence Downard screened a movie on water.

Everett Vernacini served refreshments. A business session will be held Feb. 27.

Hargraves Airs Stand At Principals Session

George Hargraves, East Liverpool High School principal, was among a number of school leaders interviewed at Pittsburgh Wednesday concerning extreme styles of dress by high school students.

Hargraves, attending the convention of the National Association of Secondary School Principals, was queried by a reporter about suspension of 71 students at North Hills High School near Pittsburgh for unorthodox haircuts and attire.

Hargraves said, "I'm in agreement with the action taken at North Hills. However, we've never had an extreme problem in our school because we've relied on individual counseling by the dean of boys and the dean of girls."

Team Of Elks Lodge Enters Area Contest

The ritual team of the Elks Lodge conducted an initiation for a class of seven candidates Wednesday night in Rochester as a "rehearsal" for its competition in the district session at Coshocton over the weekend. Twelve attended.

John Eccleston is chairman of the ritual committee. The team will compete in a field of 10 Saturday for the South East District event and about 30 members of the lodge will attend the Coshocton sessions of 14 lodges Saturday and Sunday.

Meanwhile, Past Exalted Rulers Night will be observed tonight at 8 with past rulers serving as officers with Michael Gerace, exalted ruler, in charge of the opening. Lunch will follow.

Fitness Without Hiking

One can find no fault with the over-all objectives of President Kennedy's physical fitness appeal.

The basic program makes sense. But the 50-mile hike phase of it raises some questions.

Locally. we wouldn't recommend such hiking to even the most rugged. It's one thing to be patriotic, but it's another thing to use poor judgment in the interest of health.

Instead of 50-mile hikes, why not take advantage of various physical fitness programs that are available on a more sensible basis for both young and old? Such as:

The new Health Center which is proving so popular at the YMCA. One of the outstanding in the district, it has proven a welcome and invigorating retreat for the over-age businessman who has trouble finding time for proper exercise:

Basketball, swimming and other activities at the Y;

Tennis courts and golf courts, becoming ever more popular yearly;

Baseball leagues for groups of all ages;

Badminton, croquet, horseshoes, archery, horseback riding, fishing and hunting.

There are many, many wholesome ways in which one can gain proper exercise. But as for the 50-mile hikes, let's leave them to the Marines!

John Lewis Lived To See It

After a tempestuous career, John L. Lewis, who was 83 on Tuesday, is venerated in some quarters as an elder statesman of labor. But in the coal fields of eastern Kentucky he has never been held in lower esteem.

Miners' disenchantment stems from a series of decisions by directors of the United Mine Workers of America's Welfare and Retirement Fund. Lewis left the union presidency three years ago, but he still is chairman of the welfare fund.

Fund directors warned in August 1962 that their benefits would be forfeited if they continued to work in mines not paying into the fund the 40-cent-a-ton royalty required by the UMW contract. The fund provides free medical care in its 10 union-owned hospitals for members, their families, and retired miners. (The fund in 1961 had cut back the retirement pension from $100 a month to $75.)

Last October the directors said that the fund wanted to dispose of its hospitals in Hazard, McDowell, Middlesboro, and Whitesburg, all in eastern Kentucky. If not taken over by the communities by next July 1, the fund plans to close them. The four hospitals have a total of 306 beds; the UMW values them at $7.7 million.

Ten years ago, almost all coal coming from eastern Kentucky was dug in 32 union-organized mines and loaded directly on railroad cars. Today only three of these mines are working.

Less than 60 per cent of the coal coming out of the region is from union mines. The remainder comes from "dog holes," small pits where coal is loaded on trucks and hauled to rail centers.

The trouble apparently springs from a decision by Lewis shortly after World War II to further the mechanization of America's mines, and to shrink mine labor from any untrained, ill-paid men to a few skilled, highly-paid union members, working in a safer, more stable industry.

The result? Today, 160,000 miners produce as much coal as 700,000 did 25 years ago.

Kentucky's smaller operators couldn't afford to automate, and they couldn't afford the 40-cent royalty, or $24.25 a day wage, or paid vacations.

Thus, chronic depression has plagued eastern Kentucky for the past 15 years. And because man must eat, union members have worked the dog holes for as little as $16 a week.

Little People Get Caught

The verbal lacing given basketball fixer Jack Molinas by the court and the director of the National Collegiate Athletic Association for corrupting college basketball players should make a permanent impression on him and all other would-be fixers.

Stiff sentences were passed out to other culprits who had been found guilty or had admitted guilt in the same activity. In this instance as in all others of a similar nature, going all the way back to the Chicago White Sox betting scandal that put baseball on the defensive against gamblers, no mercy was shown to the people who made the contracts with the athletes.

In baseball, football and basketball every precaution must be taken to keep games from being rigged. And why are games rigged?

To give professional gamblers an extra crack at the suckers who bet against them on the outcome of athletic contests. If the gamblers know something the suckers don't know, they can clean up. It's that simple.

But who takes the rap if the deal is exposed? The gamblers?

Never. The little people who make the contacts with the athletes and the athletes themselves always take the rap. The gamblers go scot-free.

This is the vicious twist in organized crime. The big operators who do the organizing and make the killings by corrupting little people can't be touched. Or if they could be touched, they rarely are, because they know how to protect themselves.

Olive Leaves Will Follow

Baseball starts its annual rise from the ashes of the previous season this week. Players are converging on the official points of hope sprinkled through the warm climates.

Some are going early; they want a head start. Some will hang back; they think it's too long a season to be in a hurry. All of us wish all of them the best of everything. May they never catch a spike sliding into second. May their line drives fall safe, their legs never give out and their batting eye stay sharp as a hawk's.

We count on these people. What we do, in a manner of speaking, is to send them out in a quest for reassurance about spring, due in five weeks.

If they ever failed to come back with an olive leaf we'd be goners. Nothing muscles up our morale like the news that rookies are batting .456 in exhibition games and infielders with the agility of rabbits and outfielders who can run like gazelles and overwhelm pitchers with sheer power at the plate are three-deep at every position.

There hasn't been too much to be exultant about the last little while. But the ball players are on their way South. The olive leaf will be along presently.

Purely Personal

One of the early high spots in my placid life was saving money to buy a 50-cent valentine for the only girl in the world when I was in the 7th grade, and if she reads this and remembers, happy Valentine's Day —yet, wherever you are.

It is my hunch the Post Office Department has passed the point where a rate increase brings in more money. Even at 4 cents for 1st class mail, I began to use 3-cent correspondence cards, on the sound supposition they would save not only postage but the strain of trying to fill up a sheet of paper.

The population growth phenomenon in California should be related to the area in that huge state. The increase in population per square mile was 33 in California from 1950 to 1960, 41 in New York, 58 in Massachusetts, 165 in New Jersey.

I have been taking a spatter of kidding about the snow-blower I bought in desperation during the last snowstorm. It hasn't snowed enough since to make the blower usable. Nevertheless, in view of the cost of bulldozer service for snow removal, I regard the snow-blower as insurance on which the down payment already has been taken care out of no-snow savings.

There have been times when it seemed to me like a good idea to call a halt to everything until everybody felt like going back to work, then starting with a clean slate, so to speak, and continuing from there until the slate got all messed up again.

Don't jump at the news about the Soviet Union's interest in airships. It was bound to turn out this way if the United States scuttled its airship program. Naturally, we'll have to revive our program now. Watch next week for an announcement that the Russians are developing a Skybolt missile.

Cheer up. The walking craze will have sputtered out in time for all the Johnny-Come-Lately walkers to climb back on their riding mowers for another grass season.

You may not have heard about the marriage counselor who told the doctor he wanted something to keep him from seeing so many spats before his eyes.

I will continue to believe unless it's proved to the contrary that half the trouble people have about starting cars in cold weather is ineptitude and the other half failure to take care of their cars.

With no intention to criticize people who like them, nothing leaves me colder than puzzles. If this is of significant interest to a psychiatrist, I will go peaceably, just as long as I do not have to monkey with puzzles, or guessing games.

If it is possible to melt snow at low temperatures by sprinkling soot on it to absorb winter sunlight why aren't all houses in this part of the country constructed with black roofs to augment inside heat during cold weather. With white coverings for summer.

Each year a luncheon club I once belonged to has a reunion of its survivors. This is always a happy occasion, because this club had no purpose, no constitution, no bylaws and officers only in the most casual manner; i.e., someone got up and told the first story—he was president.

When I dress up, would-be wits want to know if I am going to a funeral or planning to preach a sermon. This suits me fine because I often feel like asking them if they are on their way to a masquerade.

When Democrats complain about politics muddying the Cuban situation, I remember what their smear artist Michelson did to Herbert Hoover about the depression and have a feeling these things always balance themselves if you wait.

It's Never Finished!

Overseas Jobs Open To U.S. Men

By Victor Riesel

No one seems to want to say it aloud. So I will. I mentioned it at several international conferences in London and Geneva recently. The unmentionable is the fact that there are several thousand jobs available in Latin America, Africa and Asia, and there are thousands of eligible and skilled jobless doing little in our land, though they're desperately needed abroad.

Victor Riesel

There is need for good workmen, such as are unemployed in West Virginia and Illinois, for example. The men who have gone into the mines and are good carpenters, construction workers, masons, electricians.

I first heard of the desperate need of our Asiatic friends in Malaya, when I was in Singapore and Kuala Lumpur this summer.

The Malayan government had contacted our Peace Corps.

THERE ARE only 26 volunteers on special construction projects in the Malayan Federation. Now they need additional contingents of blasting and drilling workers for rural development. If we can get some of our unemployed miners to go over to a land I found delightful, to aid a people I found eager to know us, befriend us, and even defend us, the Americans would work in quarries.

They would blast and drill rock. They would train Malayans. They would open new quarries.

They would be part of the Peace Corps road construction teams. They would lay out, survey and build new roads in the interior of the country.

There is many a coaldigger with no work available at the pit from which he hacked coal and his daily bread, who could dig his way into the hearts of African people and their governments with his skills.

In Gabon, in West Africa, for example, the Peace Corps needs construction gangs of 10 men each. Carpenters and masons would be fine. They would clear the land. They would wipe out the underbrush. They would in its place put up rough schools.

THEY WOULD teach the Africans how to clear and build so no one would have to take the favors of Sino-Soviet "technicians." The Gabon Republic runs some 500 miles along the Atlantic.

In Tunisia, my good friend Habib Bourguiba, its president, has need of American bus and auto mechanics. Many are jobless in the United States. They could do great service in Tunisian maintenance and repair shops.

These volunteers, if we could get them, would assist in developing and executing a maintenance program for the Tunisian transportation authorities.

For those who want to go east of Suez, up past the Khyber Pass, there is the kingdom of Afghanistan. There the need is for printers to produce vital teaching aides.

THE SOVIETS don't hesitate to ship in their men. We don't ship people in. We ask for volunteers. We don't get nearly as many as we need to handle hot type in this cold war.

The Royal Government of Afghanistan needs men experienced in regular printing, offset printing, offset camera plate printing, monotype caster keyboard operation and printing equipment maintenance.

The presses there are mostly less than 10 years old. What they turn out can turn the mindsets of a people in a mighty strategic part of the world.

Or if there is a panchant among some of our jobless people or retired folks for Latin America, Peru has its needs.

They need construction workers there, too, to bolster those Americans already in the field. They want to wipe out slums. Americans would be assigned mostly in the area of the big capital, Lima.

THERE IS a desperate need for construction expediters, carpenters, plumbers, draftsmen and masons. They would work in teams.

I write no travel or want ads here. Nor adventure copy. Why should not some of our unemployed take their skills to a far-off land for two years. Ten weeks of this stint would be spent in training here in the United States. Then there is travel time. And finally 21 months on the volunteer job. At the end there is $1,800 in cash.

This is in addition to all travel costs, living and medical expenses, food, clothing, housing and even other incidentals.

The Peace Corps will take married couples if the wife has any skill needed where her husband would work. And which wife hasn't. At the end of such a stay there would be $3,600 tax-free dollars.

The volunteers do have to be 18. But there is no upper age limit. A high school diploma or the equivalent in experience is practically all that's needed. There are thousands of jobs for the jobless who are willing to leave familiar corners for 21 months. Why not?

'Moon On The Rocks'

By James E. Warner

The making of moonshine is on the decline, the Internal Revenue Service reported somewhat proudly this week.

Best index, the "revenoors" of comic strip and TV fame find, of the volume of moonshine being produced is their seizures of mash, the stuff from which the illegal whiskey is made. Such seizures declined 16.5 per cent last year as compared with the previous year, and through no lack of vigilance of agents.

Moonshiners are finding it much more difficult to get their raw materials, such as sugar, yeast and containers, in the quantities they require. In fact, the agents have detected and arrested a relatively new breed of law breakers —"jar bootleggers"—who tried to develop a business devoted only to supplying moonshiners deprived of legitimate sources of such supplies.

THEY UNEARTHED one moonshiner who was selling his own whiskey, but wouldn't drink it himself. He was drinking legal tax paid port wine. Asked why, he said:

"Man, do you think I'm crazy? I don't want to kill myself. I like whiskey lots better than wine but I'd rather drink wine than that stuff I been making in that steel drum."

Moonshining is still a fairly big business, however, with 93 per cent of it concentrated in 14 Southern states. Last year agents made 8,629 arrests, seized 2,509 vehicles, destroyed 9,296 stills and seized property worth more than $2 million.

However, says Dwight E. Avis, director of the IRS Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division:

". . . many moonshiners have been forced out of business while others have curtailed production due to their inability to obtain raw materials through normal channels . . ."

Side effects, he said, included not only the arrest of "jar bootleggers" but several robberies involving sugar and yeast which 'shiners could not obtain legally.

In one case agents cracked down on a still which occupied three stories of a New Jersey industrial building. It was a five section, 28-inch column continuous process operation. It had two large wooden vats each with an 8,000 gallon capacity. The estimated value of the violator's investment in this operation was $25,000.

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By George Lichty

"Our main job in the missle race, men, is to develop press releases that'll neutralize Russian press releases the minute they are released!"

Alternative To War

By David Lawrence

Steps Needed To Assure Hemisphere Peace

Administration officials are asking critics of its Cuban policy: "What would you do—go to war?"

There are alternative policies to war but they require courage and a steadfast adherence to principle.

David Lawrence

The United States has a clear case against the Soviet government. Missile sites were secretly set up in Cuba. The weapons admittedly were offensive in character. Soviet troops and technicians numbering 17,000 still remain in Cuba, and the evident intention of the Soviets is to maintain a military base 90 miles from the United States. This can be construed only as a military threat — a posture of hostility.

Borrowing a word from the speech of President Franklin D. Roosevelt in October 1937, there is available to President Kennedy a "quarantine."

It was applied in a limited sense for a brief period last October. In 1937, however, it was a broader proposal—an international "quarantine" against all aggressors.

BUT WHETHER it be international or unilateral, the United States has available today an important instrument of policy:

First, a "quarantine" can be imposed against all shipping to and from Cuba unless all Soviet military equipment is removed.

Second, if the Soviet Union still refuses to withdraw its armament, the United States can regard this as a hostile act and can sever diplomatic relations.

This is a serious move, but it is not as serious as war itself. To withdraw our ambassador and embassy staff from Moscow and to require the Soviets to take home their huge staff in Wahington would be a hardship for the Russians, since they use this country as a vehicle of infiltration and for the transmission of funds to pay their secret agents.

Third, all commercial intercourse between the Soviet Union and the United States could be terminated. This would include all tourist travel and exchange arrangements.

Fourth, steps could be taken to persuade the Organization of American States, as well as our European and Asiatic allies, to join in the international quarantine.

PLENTY of objections, particularly on the ground of inconvenience and commercial losses, would be offered, especially with respect to international trade, but the injury would be on the material side and would not involve the loss of human lives. It would certainly not require the use of any nuclear weapons or troops.

But, it will be argued, this could offend the Soviets and lead to war. That's a remote chance, but it has to be taken. For, after all, in international law each nation has a right to maintain or refrain from trade relations or diplomatic relations with any country it chooses.

As for a "quarantine" on shipping, this was to some extent invoked by President Kennedy last October and no war resulted.

The simple fact is that the United States has an enormous power and influence to secure protection for the people of the United States without resorting to war. These policies have often been known in history as measures "short of war."

The American people are worried by the continued presence of Russian armament in Cuba. The scolding given on TV by Undersecretary of State George W. Ball to Republican and Democratic congressmen for venturing to criticize the listless policies of the Kennedy administration with respect to Cuba is not likely to be heeded on Capitol Hill. For when the people feel that news is being suppressed, they became more suspicious than ever.

THE PRESIDENT has the sympathy of the public. It is accepted that he is in a tough spot and that the blame can readily be placed on the Soviets. But the American people do not want to see any policy of acquiescence adopted that could be construed as appeasement.

They want action. Hence, the simplest formula is to go back to the oldest principle of international law—the protection of the safety of the people in our own country from possible attack.

It is not sufficient to carry on academic debates as to whether weapons are offensive or defensive, or whether the Cuban armament can or cannot be used effectively against us.

The fact remains that the Soviet government, for reasons best known to itself, is maintaining a small army in Cuba and admittedly is engaged in training a bigger one. This implies a potential aggression against the United States and the republics of Central and South America. It is logical, therefore, to take steps short of war. These steps can prevent war and assure peace in this hemisphere.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The name of the Loyal Temperance Legion here was changed to Faithful Loyal Temperance Legion.

Albert R. Wood of Wellsville was appointed deputy fire marshal for Columbiana, Jefferson, and Harrison counties.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Ever since the bad winter weather has set in I have been walking to and from school with my little girl.

As I know firsthand the condition of the sidewalks from Henry Ave. to Maplewood Ave. where Taft School is located, I have thought of writing this letter before but was in hope that something would be done to correct this. But nothing has been done.

The other morning the sidewalks were so covered that it was hard for an adult to walk let alone a little tot. The little ones were falling one after another. Last week I saw a little boy around 6 or 7 who had a black eye and other bruises on his face. I asked him what happened and he told me he had fallen on the ice.

Then when we get a few warm days the slush and water is so bad along the curb the water runs like a small creek and the drivers never slow. If they only had our cleaning bills they might think twice and slow down. Mrs. Williams is a wonderful guard and I have seen her when she was wet from head to foot from inconsiderate drivers.

Why doesn't the city take some income tax money or use some of the relief workers and clean these sidewalks and curbs?

Some of the curbs you can't even get down. You have to go knee deep in snow.

MRS. WILLIAM KERR
600 Henry Ave.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I am writing this as an open letter to city Council as a protest to the ice on the Washington St. sidewalk below 3rd St.

Because of no curb on the corner of 3rd and Washington, water and melted snow run down the sidewalk. And when it is cold enough it will freeze on the sidewalk. I know because I fell hard and had to be taken to the hospital and have the doctor sew my head up.

I think it should be fixed, don't you?

ROY C. MASTERS

In baseball, football and basketball every precaution must be taken to keep games from being rigged. And why are games rigged?

To give professional gamblers an extra crack at the suckers who bet against them on the outcome of athletic contests. If the gamblers know something the suckers don't know, they can clean up. It's that simple.

But who takes the rap if the deal is exposed? The gamblers?

Never. The little people who make the contacts with the athletes and the athletes themselves always take the rap. The gamblers go scot-free.

This is the vicious twist in organized crime. The big operators who do the organizing and make the killings by corrupting little people can't be touched. Or if they could be touched, they rarely are, because they know how to protect themselves.

Olive Leaves Will Follow

Baseball starts its annual rise from the ashes of the previous season this week. Players are converging on the official points of hope sprinkled through the warm climates.

Some are going early; they want a head start. Some will hang back; they think it's too long a season to be in a hurry. All of us wish all of them the best of everything. May they never catch a spike sliding into second. May their line drives fall safe, their legs never give out and their batting eye stay sharp as a hawk's.

We count on these people. What we do, in a manner of speaking, is to send them out in a quest for reassurance about spring, due in five weeks.

If they ever failed to come back with an olive leaf we'd be goners. Nothing muscles up our morale like the news that rookies are batting .456 in exhibition games and infielders with the agility of rabbits and outfielders who can run like gazelles and overwhelm pitchers with sheer power at the plate are three-deep at every position.

There hasn't been too much to be exultant about the last little while. But the ball players are on their way South. The olive leaf will be along presently.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

One of the early high spots in my placid life was saving money to buy a 50-cent valentine for the only girl in the world when I was in the 7th grade, and if she reads this and remembers, happy Valentine's Day—yet, wherever you are.

It is my hunch the Post Office Department has passed the point where a rate increase brings in more money. Even at 4 cents for 1st class mail, I began to use 3-cent correspondence cards, on the sound supposition they would save not only postage but the strain of trying to fill up a sheet of paper.

The population growth phenomenon in California should be related to the area in that huge state. The increase in population per square mile was 33 in California from 1950 to 1960, 41 in New York, 58 in Massachusetts, 165 in New Jersey.

I have been taking a spatter of kidding about the snow-blower I bought in desperation during the last snowstorm. It hasn't snowed enough since to make the blower usable. Nevertheless, in view of the cost of bulldozer service for snow removal, I regard the snow-blower as insurance on which the down payment already has been taken care out of no-snow savings.

There have been times when it seemed to me like a good idea to call a halt to everything until everybody felt like going back to work, then starting with a clean slate, so to speak, and continuing from there until the slate got all messed up again.

Don't jump at the news about the Soviet Union's interest in airships. It was bound to turn out this way if the United States scuttled its airship program. Naturally, we'll have to revive our program now. Watch next week for an announcement that the Russians are developing a Skybolt missile.

Cheer up. The walking craze will have sputtered out in time for all the Johnny-Come-Lately walkers to climb back on their riding mowers for another grass season.

You may not have heard about the marriage counselor who told the doctor he wanted something to keep him from seeing so many spats before his eyes.

I will continue to believe unless it's proved to the contrary that half the trouble people have about starting cars in cold weather is ineptitude and the other half failure to take care of their cars.

With no intention to criticize people who like them, nothing leaves me colder than puzzles. If this is of significant interest to a psychiatrist, I will go peaceably, just as long as I do not have to monkey with puzzles, or guessing games.

If it is possible to melt snow at low temperatures by sprinkling soot on it to absorb winter sunlight why aren't all houses in this part of the country constructed with black roofs to augment inside heat during cold weather. With white coverings for summer.

Each year a luncheon club I once belonged to has a reunion of its survivors. This is always a happy occasion, because this club had no purpose, no constitution, no bylaws and officers only in the most casual manner; i.e., someone got up and told the first story—he was president.

When I dress up, would-be wits want to know if I am going to a funeral or planning to preach a sermon. This suits me fine because I often feel like asking them if they are on their way to a masquerade.

When Democrats complain about politics muddying the Cuban situation, I remember what their smear artist Michelson did to Herbert Hoover about the depression and have a feeling these things always balance themselves if you wait.

Overseas Jobs Open To U.S. Men

By Victor Riesel

No one seems to want to say it aloud. So I will. I mentioned it at several international conferences in London and Geneva recently. The unmentionable is the fact that there are several thousand jobs available in Latin America, Africa and Asia, and there are thousands of eligible and skilled jobless doing little in our land, though they're desperately needed abroad.

Victor Riesel

There is need for good workmen, such as are unemployed in West Virginia and Illinois, for example. The men who have gone into the mines and are good carpenters, construction workers, masons, electricians.

I first heard of the desperate need of our Asiatic friends in Malaya, when I was in Singapore and Kuala Lumpur this summer.

The Malayan government had contacted our Peace Corps.

THERE ARE only 26 volunteers on special construction projects in the Malayan Federation. Now they need additional contingents of blasting and drilling workers for rural development. If we can get some of our unemployed miners to go over to a land I found delightful, to aid a people I found eager to know us, befriend us, and even defend us, the Americans would work in quarries.

They would blast and drill rock. They would train Malayans. They would open new quarries.

They would be part of the Peace Corps road construction teams. They would lay out, survey and build new roads in the interior of the country.

There is many a coaldigger with no work available at the pit from which he hacked coal and his daily bread, who could dig his way into the hearts of African people and their governments with his skills.

In Gabon, in West Africa, for example, the Peace Corps needs construction gangs of 10 men each. Carpenters and masons would be fine. They would clear the land. They would wipe out the underbrush. They would in its place put up rough schools.

THEY WOULD teach the Africans how to clear and build so no one would have to take the favors of Sino-Soviet "technicians." The Gabon Republic runs some 500 miles along the Atlantic.

In Tunisia, my good friend Habib Bourguiba, its president, has need of American bus and auto mechanics. Many are jobless in the United States. They could do great service in Tunisian maintenance and repair shops.

These volunteers, if we could get them, would assist in developing and executing a maintenance program for the Tunisian transportation authorities.

For those who want to go east of Suez, up past the Khyber Pass, there is the kingdom of Afghanistan. There the need is for printers to produce vital teaching aides.

THE SOVIETS don't hesitate to ship in their men. We don't ship people in. We ask for volunteers. We don't get nearly as many as we need to handle hot type in this cold war.

The Royal Government of Afghanistan needs men experienced in regular printing, offset printing, offset camera plate printing, monotype caster keyboard operation and printing equipment maintenance.

The presses there are mostly less than 10 years old. What they turn out can turn the mindsets of a people in a mighty strategic part of the world.

Or if there is a panchant among some of our jobless people or retired folks for Latin America, Peru has its needs.

They need construction workers there, too, to bolster those Americans already in the field. They want to wipe out slums. Americans would be assigned mostly in the area of the big capital, Lima.

THERE IS a desperate need for construction expediters, carpenters, plumbers, draftsmen and masons. They would work in teams.

I write no travel or want ads here. Nor adventure copy. Why should not some of our unemployed take their skills to a far-off land for two years. Ten weeks of this stint would be spent in training here in the United States. Then there is travel time. And finally 21 months on the volunteer job. At the end there is $1,800 in cash.

This is in addition to all travel costs, living and medical expenses, food, clothing, housing and even other incidentals.

The Peace Corps will take married couples if the wife has any skill needed where her husband would work. And which wife hasn't. At the end of such a stay there would be $3,600 tax-free dollars.

The volunteers do have to be 18. But there is no upper age limit. A high school diploma or the equivalent in experience is practically all that's needed. There are thousands of jobs for the jobless who are willing to leave familiar corners for 21 months. Why not?

'Moon On The Rocks'

By James E. Warner

The making of moonshine is on the decline, the Internal Revenue Service reported somewhat proudly this week.

Best index, the "revenoors" of comic strip and TV fame find, of the volume of moonshine being produced is their seizures of mash, the stuff from which the illegal whiskey is made. Such seizures declined 16.5 per cent last year as compared with the previous year, and through no lack of vigilance of agents.

Moonshiners are finding it much more difficult to get their raw materials, such as sugar, yeast and containers, in the quantities they require. In fact, the agents have detected and arrested a relatively new breed of law breakers—"jar bootleggers"—who tried to develop a business devoted only to supplying moonshiners deprived of legitimate sources of such supplies.

THEY UNEARTHED one moonshiner who was selling his own whiskey, but wouldn't drink it himself. He was drinking legal tax paid port wine. Asked why, he said:

"Man, do you think I'm crazy? I don't want to kill myself. I like whiskey lots better than wine but I'd rather drink wine than that stuff I been making in that steel drum."

Moonshining is still a fairly big business, however, with 93 per cent of it concentrated in 14 Southern states. Last year agents made 8,629 arrests, seized 2,509 vehicles, destroyed 9,296 stills and seized property worth more than $2 million.

However, says Dwight E. Avis, director of the IRS Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division:

". . . many moonshiners have been forced out of business while others have curtailed production due to their inability to obtain raw materials through normal channels . . ."

Side effects, he said, included not only the arrest of "jar bootleggers" but several robberies involving sugar and yeast which 'shiners could not obtain legally.

In one case agents cracked down on a still which occupied three stories of a New Jersey industrial building. It was a five section, 28-inch column continuous process operation. It had two large wooden vats each with an 8,000 gallon capacity. The estimated value of the violator's investment in this operation was $25,000.

Alternative To War

By David Lawrence

Steps Needed To Assure Hemisphere Peace

Administration officials are asking critics of its Cuban policy: "What would you do—go to war?"

There are alternative policies to war but they require courage and a steadfast adherence to principle.

David Lawrence

The United States has a clear case against the Soviet government. Missile sites were secretly set up in Cuba. The weapons admittedly were offensive in character. Soviet troops and technicians numbering 17,000 still remain in Cuba, and the evident intention of the Soviets is to maintain a military base 90 miles from the United States. This can be construed only as a military threat — a posture of hostility.

Borrowing a word from the speech of President Franklin D. Roosevelt in October 1937, there is available to President Kennedy a "quarantine."

It was applied in a limited sense for a brief period last October. In 1937, however, it was a broader proposal—an international "quarantine" against all aggressors.

BUT WHETHER it be international or unilateral, the United States has available today an important instrument of policy:

First, a "quarantine" can be imposed against all shipping to and from Cuba unless all Soviet military equipment is removed.

Second, if the Soviet Union still refuses to withdraw its armament, the United States can regard this as a hostile act and can sever diplomatic relations.

This is a serious move, but it is not as serious as war itself. To withdraw our ambassador and embassy staff from Moscow and to require the Soviets to take home their huge staff in Wahington would be a hardship for the Russians, since they use this country as a vehicle of infiltration and for the transmission of funds to pay their secret agents.

Third, all commercial intercourse between the Soviet Union and the United States could be terminated. This would include all tourist travel and exchange arrangements.

Fourth, steps could be taken to persuade the Organization of American States, as well as our European and Asiatic allies, to join in the international quarantine.

PLENTY of objections, particularly on the ground of inconvenience and commercial losses, would be offered, especially with respect to international trade, but the injury would be on the material side and would not involve the loss of human lives. It would certainly not require the use of any nuclear weapons or troops.

But, it will be argued, this could offend the Soviets and lead to war. That's a remote chance, but it has to be taken. For, after all, in international law each nation has a right to maintain or refrain from trade relations or diplomatic relations with any country it chooses.

As for a "quarantine" on shipping, this was to some extent invoked by President Kennedy last October and no war resulted.

The simple fact is that the United States has an enormous power and influence to secure protection for the people of the United States without resorting to war. These policies have often been known in history as measures "short of war."

The American people are worried by the continued presence of Russian armament in Cuba. The scolding given on TV by Undersecretary of State George W. Ball to Republican and Democratic congressmen for venturing to criticize the listless policies of the Kennedy administration with respect to Cuba is not likely to be heeded on Capitol Hill. For when the people feel that news is being suppressed, they became more suspicious than ever.

THE PRESIDENT has the sympathy of the public. It is accepted that he is in a tough spot and that the blame can readily be placed on the Soviets. But the American people do not want to see any policy of acquiescence adopted that could be construed as appeasement.

They want action. Hence, the simplest formula is to go back to the oldest principle of international law—the protection of the safety of the people in our own country from possible attack.

It is not sufficient to carry on academic debates as to whether weapons are offensive or defensive, or whether the Cuban armament can or cannot be used effectively against us.

The fact remains that the Soviet government, for reasons best known to itself, is maintaining a small army in Cuba and admittedly is engaged in training a bigger one. This implies a potential aggression against the United States and the republics of Central and South America. It is logical, therefore, to take steps short of war. These steps can prevent war and assure peace in this hemisphere.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Ever since the bad winter weather has set in I have been walking to and from school with my little girl.

As I know firsthand the condition of the sidewalks from Henry Ave. to Maplewood Ave. where Taft School is located, I have thought of writing this letter before but was in hope that something would be done to correct this. But nothing has been done.

The other morning the sidewalks were so covered that it was hard for an adult to walk let alone a little tot. The little ones were falling one after another. Last week I saw a little boy around 6 or 7 who had a black eye and other bruises on his face. I asked him what happened and he told me he had fallen on the ice.

Then when we get a few warm days the slush and water is so bad along the curb the water runs like a small creek and the drivers never slow. If they only had our cleaning bills they might think twice and slow down. Mrs. Williams is a wonderful guard and I have seen her when she was wet from head to foot from inconsiderate drivers.

Why doesn't the city take some income tax money or use some of the relief workers and clean these sidewalks and curbs?

Some of the curbs you can't even get down. You have to go knee deep in snow.

MRS. WILLIAM KERR
600 Henry Ave.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I am writing this as an open letter to city Council as a protest to the ice on the Washington St. sidewalk below 3rd St.

Because of no curb on the corner of 3rd and Washington, water and melted snow run down the sidewalk. And when it is cold enough it will freeze on the sidewalk. I know because I fell hard and had to be taken to the hospital and have the doctor sew my head up.

I think it should be fixed, don't you?

West Virginia Senate Okay Due On DST

CHARLESTON (AP) — The Senate was expected to pass today a House-approved bill to put all of West Virginia on Daylight Saving Time for 21 weeks a year, but there was doubt that the measure could be made to apply this year.

The bill would require the governor to proclaim statewide observance of fast time from the fourth Sunday in April through the fourth Sunday in September each year.

As approved by the House last week, the bill would take effect 90 days from final passage, well after the proposed April 28 starting date for fast time this year. Any other effective date for a bill requires two-thirds votes in both houses.

An attempt to make the measure effective immediately was expected in the Senate. However, a vote there yesterday had less than two-thirds (22) of the senators aligned in support of the bill.

Even if Senate supporters mustered 22 votes today to make the bill effective from passage, it would have to go back to the House for concurrence in the changed date. And the bill passed there last week with less than two-thirds (67) of the delegates in support. The House vote was 60-37.

The bill is designed to end the state's annual summertime confusion of time zones, in which the Northern and Eastern Panhandles and some other border areas observe fast time while the rest of the state stays an hour behind on standard time.

McKinley's PTA To Hold Carnival

Plans for the carnival March 22 were discussed at a meeting of the McKinley Parent - Teacher Association Tuesday evening. The theme will be "Mardi Gras." Mrs. Richard Martin is project chairman.

Dr. Marvin Kinsey was the guest speaker, discussing "Fluoridation of Water."

A variety program was presented by a group of mothers under the direction of Mrs. William O. Sutherland.

There was a skit, "What Is It Mrs. Perkins?", a fashion show, a comic monologue, and selections by the Mothers Kitchen Band. About 26 participated.

Pam McKinnon and Aleta Bourne were in charge of registration.

Business was conducted by Donald Skidmore, president. Mrs. Earl Neiser led devotions.

Educator Will Address Annual Chamber Fete

William C. Craig, chairman of the Department of Speech at the College of Wooster, will address the annual dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night, at the Country Club.

Widely-known as a teacher, speaker and a participant in the theater, he has headed the college department since 1946. Craig's address will follow a 6:30 dinner. The Chamber reminded its members reservations will close Saturday.

A graduate of the College of Wooster, Craig has done additional graduate work at the School of Speech at Northwestern University, at Western Theological Seminary and at Ohio State University.

Prior to his return to Wooster in 1944, he taught at Northwestern and served for 14 years as chairman of the Department of Speech at Capital University and at the Evangelical Lutheran Seminary at the same university.

On two occasions, Craig has been guest professor at Union Theological Seminary in New York City. While there in 1958, he directed the premier performances of Walter Sorell's play, "Everyman Today," which later was presented under his direction on 62 stations of a national television network.

In the summer of 1960, he served as director of an industrial show which opened at Seattle and Las Vegas and later played throughout the nation.

Training Courses Scheduled For Camp Fire Girls' Groups

A basic training course of the four program levels of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., will be sponsored by the East Liverpool Area Council Monday and Tuesday in the council offices at 517 Broadway.

Mrs. William Elder of Lagrange, Ind, a volunteer member of the national field staff, will be instructor. She has an extensive Camp Fire Girls background, having served as a group leader for all the program levels, former Board of Directors' president, chairman of all the board's functional committees, resident camp director and a member of the regional committee.

The schedule follows:

Monday, 10 a. m. to 12, training for leaders of Camp Fire Girls; 1 to 3 p. m., training for Blue Bird groups, and 3 to 6 p. m., Horizon Club advisors training.

The periods for Tuesday are: 10 a. m. to 12, the use of symbolism in the Camp Fire program; 1 to 3, training for Junior Hi Camp Fire guardians, and 3 to 5, the final meeting, limited to members of the program committee.

The first five sessions will be open to anyone interested in the Camp Fire Girl program, not just leaders and assistants. Mothers, sponsors and others are invited.

A delegation of members of the Lisbon Camp Fire Girls Association will be guests at the training sessions.

Woman Hurt In Ice Fall

A city woman, injured in a fall on ice, was admitted Wednesday night to City Hospital where three other area residents were treated yesterday after separate mishaps.

Mrs. Marie Tweed, 115 W. 3rd St., was in "fairly good" condition today with a laceration of the scalp received in the fall. She was admitted at 10:50 p. m.

Mrs. June Porter of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1 was treated yesterday for a fracture of the right wrist received in a fall on ice.

James White, 17, of 1129 Harker Ave. received a cut of the right little finger on a power saw while in the shop class of East Junior High School.

Terry Bowyer, 6, son of Harry Bowyer of Westfield, received a cut of the left leg on a razor blade.

Sargus Would End Jury Panels In Road Actions

By Review Correspondent

COLUMBUS — Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, D-St. Clairsville, teamed up with two other Democrats Wednesday in sponsoring a bill in the Ohio Senate to eliminate special jury panels in county road appropriation cases.

"During the last session of the Legislature, the procedure in other appropriation cases was changed by elimination of special jury venires," the sponsors said. "This bill simply would extend this procedure to the county roads appropriation cases."

The bill, co-sponsored with Sens. James P. Kilbane of Cleveland and Frazier Rams Jr. of Toledo, also would give original concurrent jurisdiction to Common Pleas and Probate Courts.

The sponsors cited the number of road appropriation cases being filed because of Ohio's interstate highway program and said adoption of the bill would "work a substantial savings in the cost of jury services throughout Ohio."

Churchill's Voted Citizen Of Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The Nebraska Legislature has voted unanimously to make Great Britain's Sir Winston Churchill a full citizen of the state.

It has also been proposed in Congress to give Churchill honorary American citizenship. Sen. Stephen Young, D-Ohio, has introduced a resolution to do this in the Senate. A similar resolution in the House has been introduced by Rep. Frances Bolton, R-Ohio.

Both resolutions have been referred to the judiciary committees of the House and Senate where no immediate action is scheduled.

Ceremony At Wellsville

Women's Civic Group Installs

Installation of officers highlighted the annual dinner meeting of the Wellsville Women's Civic Club Tuesday night at Piatt's Tea Room.

Mrs. Mary Carroll, the new president, is flanked in the first row by Mrs. Jean Tipton, left, second vice president, and Mrs. Goldie Steele, right, first vice president. In the second row, left to right, are Mrs. Louise Lawton, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Helen Welch, parliamentarian; Mrs. Floreine Broderick, outgoing president, and Mrs. Janet Carroll, treasurer.

Mrs. Broderick was the installing officer. The new president resides at 1728 Lincoln Ave.

The new Board of Directors includes Mrs. Broderick, Mrs. Evelyn Nightingale, Mrs. Pat Cornwell and Mrs. Betty McDowell.

Standing committees and chairmen for the year were listed. They include, with the chairmen first:

Mrs. Martha McCune, Mrs. Clara Bobalik, Mrs. Janet O'Hara and Mrs. Doris McMorrow, ways and means; Mrs. Virginia Gitschier, press correspondent, with Mrs. Marge Harkins as standby assistant; Mrs. Jean Broderick, Mrs. Martha Wilson and Mrs. Ethyl Stroble, program; Mrs. Dorothy McCreary, telephone; Mrs. Sara Rose, flower chairman, with Mrs. Edna Brown as standby assistant.

Mrs. Welch, Mrs. McCreary and Mrs. Floreine Broderick, scholarship; Mrs. Welch, Mrs. Lawton, Mrs. Tipton, Mrs. Grace Woodward, and Mrs. Ann Weekley, arts and hobbies classes; Mrs. Marge Dysert and Mrs. Tipton, co-chairmen, Mrs. Marge Kinzel, Mrs. Pattie Andrews and Mrs. Zeta Penn, valentine committee for rest homes, and Mrs. Welch, Mrs. Bette Jackson, Mrs. Martha Somers and Mrs. Nightingale, personal consultants and advisors.

Mrs. Broderick presented the gavel to Mrs. Carroll. Mrs. Welch offered prayer. The secretary and treasurer reports were heard.

Mrs. Welch and Mrs. Mary Rahter, past "Women of Distinction," were recognized. The club presents such an award every five years.

A valentine theme was used in the decorations. Mrs. Martha Wilson presented a musical program.

Committee reports were heard. Mrs. Welch said the annual arts and hobbies classes, slated for eight weeks, will begin March 7 at Daw Junior High School. The classes will be held on Thursdays from 7 to 9 p. m.

Registration will be Thursday, Feb. 28, in the lobby by the Daw school. The tuition will be $8 for adults and $4 for students, payable at the time of registration. The students will pay for their own materials.

The number and type of classes offered will depend upon the demand. In most cases there must be a minimum of eight registrations. Pre - registration can be made with Mrs. Weekley, 609 15th St., at LE. 2-2195.

The tentative list of classes is mosaic art, drawing, painting, knitting, photography, rug hooking, bridge, social dancing, golf, Bible study, upholstering, furniture refinishing and choral singing.

The classes are offered as a way for men and women of the community to broaden their interests.

Valentine gifts of candy will be distributed to residents of rest homes.

Mrs. Floreine Broderick reported on the committee working toward the establishment of a Community Chest program in Wellsville.

Mrs. Carroll and Mrs. Broderick were presented corsages. Mrs. Nightingale presented Mrs. Broderick a gift from the club.

The social committee for the meeting March 12 will be Mrs. Nightingale, Mrs. Woodward, and Mrs. Mary Carroll.

Jury Hears Suit In Traffic Case

Testimony continued today before a jury in Common Pleas Court in a $50,000 personal injury suit filed by Arthur Lightfoot of Boring Ln., claiming he was injured severely in a pedestrian accident involving a car driven by Paul Thomas Cooper of M.C. Rt. 22, East Liverpool, on April 1, 1958, on Route 267 about 300 feet north of the city limits.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard swore in the jury Wednesday morning.

Lightfoot claims he spent $1,210 on hospital and medical expenses and lost $4,000 in wages after the accident.

The jury includes Glenn Lynn and Phyllis Priden of East Liverpool, Helen Barrow of Columbiana, Alden Spiers and Carola McCullough of Summitville, Jean Randolph and Doris Earl of Salineville, Mary L. Mattern of Rogers, Dorothy Wickersham of Kensington, George Sheen of Homeworth and Frank Carnes of Leetonia. Jean Brinker of Leetonia is alternate.

Woman Animal Trainer Hurt In Attack By Lion

CLEVELAND (AP)—Miss Evelyn Currie, a wild animal trainer with the Al Sirat Grotto Circus opening here today, suffered a cut on her right arm that required 14 stitches when she was attacked by a lion Wednesday night.

Miss Currie said she stepped between a lion and a lioness as she was finishing a rehearsal with her feline charges and the lion bit her.

She said it was the first time she had worked with the animals without her lead lion, which died shortly after she arrived here this week. She said the lead lion had prevented other lions from attacking her on previous occasions.

She said the wound would not prevent her from performing her act during the 10-day run of the circus.

Penalties 'Beefed Up'

House Group Will Add More Teeth To Blue Law

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS — Moving cautiously but swiftly toward completion of a new blue law bill, the House judiciary subcommittee beefed up penalty provisions late Wednesday and prepared today to add more teeth to the measure.

Judiciary Chairman Edmund G. James, R-Noble, scheduled an unusual after - the - session meeting today as most other legislators headed home for the weekend.

James, who hopes to have the bill ready for consideration by the full committee next week, wants his subcommittee to iron out two enforcement features today.

Reps. Wray Bevens, D-Pike, and William W. Taft, R-Cuyahoga, were to submit their proposal today for addition of injunctive powers to the bill. The committee reached no agreement yesterday as to whether such powers should be included or how far they should go.

Rep. Marigene Valiquette, D-Lucas, was to report today on possible inclusion in the penalty section of a vendor's license suspension for multiple violations of the law.

The subcommittee adopted these penalty provisions Wednesday:

First offense, a fine of $25 to $200. Each subsequent offense, a fine of $200 to $500 and 5 to 30 days in jail.

Existing penalties are a fine of $25 for first offense and $50 to $100 and 5 to 30 days in jail for [illegible] offenses.

James asked all subcommittee members to draft a list of items this weekend which they think should be exempted from the Sunday sales ban.

James warned the members that "this is where the bill might break down" and urged them to "exercise conservative restraint" in compiling their lists.

He indicated it might be best to begin with a strict bill with few exemptions because of the amendments almost certain to be proposed in full committee and later in the house.

James said he already has drafted three lists ranging from district to liberal exemptions.

The subcommittee also decided Wednesday to retain the existing law's exemption from Sunday closing for "persons who conscientiously observe the seventh day of the week as the sabbath and abstain thereon from doing things prohibited on Sunday.

Judiciary Chairman Edmund G. James, R-Noble, scheduled an unusual after - the - session meeting today as most other legislators headed home for the weekend.

James, who hopes to have the bill ready for consideration by the full committee next week, wants his subcommittee to iron out two enforcement features today.

Reps. Wray Bevens, D-Pike, and William W. Taft, R-Cuyahoga, were to submit their proposal today for addition of injunctive powers to the bill. The committee reached no agreement yesterday as to whether such powers should be included or how far they should go.

Rep. Marigene Valiquette, D-Lucas, was to report today on possible inclusion in the penalty section of a vendor's license suspension for multiple violations of the law.

The subcommittee adopted these penalty provisions Wednesday:

First offense, a fine of $25 to $200. Each subsequent offense, a fine of $200 to $500 and 5 to 30 days in jail.

Existing penalties are a fine of $25 for first offense and $50 to $100 and 5 to 30 days in jail for ...nt offenses.

James asked all subcommittee members to draft a list of items this weekend which they think should be exempted from the Sunday sales ban.

James warned the members that "this is where the bill might break down" and urged them to "exercise conservative restraint" in compiling their lists.

He indicated it might be best to begin with a strict bill with few exemptions because of the amendments almost certain to be proposed in full committee and later in the house.

James said he already has drafted three lists ranging from district to liberal exemptions.

The subcommittee also decided Wednesday to retain the existing law's exemption from Sunday closing for "persons who conscientiously observe the seventh day of the week as the sabbath and abstain thereon from doing things prohibited on Sunday.

DeGaulle Seen As Villain

EDITOR'S NOTE—In Charles de Gaulle's view of Europe, where does the Soviet Union fit? In this third of four articles on events in Europe, AP correspondent William L. Ryan reports his findings after interviews in France, Germany, Britain and Belgium.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

LONDON (AP)—Lofty Charles de Gaulle gazes over the heads of ordinary mortals and sees a distant vision of history.

That probably had much to do with his activities in the past month, activities his critics say threaten to rip Europe to pieces.

His vision probably impelled the tall, 72-year-old French president to implant a kiss on the craggy cheek of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, sealing a treaty to end French-German blood-letting.

De Gaulle is pictured by pro-unity Europeans as a villian playing Parisian roulette with Europe's future and making the Communists happy.

The Communists, indeed, were happy when De Gaulle rocked the European Economic Community—or Common Market—and threatened it with collapse by vetoing Britain's bid for membership. The Brussels meeting of foreign ministers of the six Common Market nations ended Jan. 29 with the West thrown into confusion.

But De Gaulle worries the Communists, too. Deeply suspicious of the Germans, the Communists fear De Gaulle's treaty with Adenauer is intended to threaten their hold on East Germany and Eastern Europe.

What is the tall, austere man of Paris trying to do? Is he contemplating some sort of deal with Moscow? Is he trying to rule Continental Europe?

De Gaulle insists he is faithful to the Atlantic Alliance. But he insists also that France must be independent within any union and must wield her own nuclear deterrent. His Europe would be a "Europe of the fatherlands," a loose confederation of entirely sovereign nations—with France, apparently, occupying the guiding dominating role.

De Gaulle's vision of history foresees a time when the Russians, as Europeans, will be forced into Europe's arms by a growing Chinese threat.

The time will come, De Gaulle has said, when Russia will find herself "face to face with the yellow masses of China, numberless and impoverished, indestructible and ambitious, building through trial and hardship a power which cannot be measured, casting her eyes about her on the open spaces (Siberia) over which one day she must spread."

De Gaulle indicates a belief that Premier Khrushchev detects the threat and will begin the orientation westward. He professes to see Russia not as the country it was 10 years ago, and Khrushchev as possibly the best representative of the present-day Soviet Union.

Does this presage an attempted De Gaulle-Khrushchev deal?

These are De Gaulle's long-term views. He says it is "Europe from the Atlantic to the Urals, it is the whole of Europe which will decide the destiny of the world." But the equilibrium he speaks about will come to pass only when "Russia stops poisoning the springs."

In the meantime De Gaulle is hard as a rock on negotiations with Russia, notably with regard to West Berlin and Germany's future.

This does not preclude a gesture to Moscow, perhaps a sudden De Gaulle visit to dramatize his view that Europe plays a powerful role between East and West. But De Gaulle is just as suspicious that the United States might deal with Russia over Europe's head as pro-unity Europeans are suspicious of a De Gaulle bargain with Khrushchev.

De Gaulle's views have been known for years, but European leaders were surprised that he would risk the whole structure of the Common Market in what many consider an attempt to impose Gaullism on Continental Europe.

Influential pro-unity leaders say the United States and Britain must share much of the blame for what happened at Brussels.

Britain, they say, in 15 months of negotiations on her Common Market bid was too tough in her demands. Yet it had seemed Britain was just about in when France lowered the boom. Some say De Gaulle intended to do so all along, as soon as British entry was imminent. Perhaps there were other reasons.

These informants view the December Nassau pact as ill-timed, clumsy, inept, provoking a furiously indignant De Gaulle to irrevocable action.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, without—De Gaulle says—consulting Paris, accepted President Kennedy's offer to substitute for the Skybolt missile program the idea of a multination, Polaris-armed nuclear force, with the U.S. finger on the trigger. The same offer was made to De Gaulle, and he angrily rejected it.

In De Gaulle's view, Britain chose the United States over Europe. He suspects a British-American design to dominate Europe. The door to the Common Market remains open to Britain, he says, but evidently she will not be accepted until she loosens her ties with the United States.

De Gaulle sees Western Europe, without Britain, strong enough to establish a balance which "will permit one day the old Continent to find peace." Thus West German ratification of his treaty with Adenauer is important to De Gaulle.

Washington may be pressing West Germany's government for action—not just words—to try to force De Gaulle to retreat. Can the question of ratification be used as a lever to change De Gaulle's mind?

Using ratification as bait would be politically unpopular in Germany. The French would claim such an attempt proved De Gaulle's complaint that British membership would create "a colossal Atlantic community under American dependence and direction."

Unimpressed by the storm, De Gaulle has made West Germany an unhappy key to the conflict. The treaty sows mistrust of West Germany, spreads the idea the two old men are trying to drive the European Economic Community into a closed, isolated Europe. Adenauer, who is 87, has said he will step down as chancellor in the fall. January's events may hasten the end of his 13-year rule.

Lincoln PTA Hears 3 Talks

Paul Zehnder, a representative of Junior Chamber of Commerce, spoke on the proposed area scholarship fund at a meeting of the Lincoln Parent - Teacher Association Tuesday evening.

He announced a public meeting will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at Westgate School in regards to the scholarship plan.

Supt. Ralph Betts spoke on "Newer Ideas In Education" and Dr. Reid Calcott discussed "Fluoridation and Dental Hygeiene."

Mrs. Kenneth Galas reported on a meeting of the City Federation held Monday at Westgate School.

Members were reminded of the public card party Feb. 23 at 8:30 p. m. at the Country Club under the sponsorship of the Child Counseling Center.

The attendance banner was won by Room 3-A, of which Miss Helen Hannahs is teacher, and Room 4-A, Mrs. Mary Alice Slaven, teacher.

Mrs. William Sulkes gave the invocation.

Refreshments were served 50 by mothers of 3-A.

Next meeting is March 12.

Enters Guilty Plea

CLEVELAND (AP) — John T. Bilinski, 58, a Democratic member of Cleveland City Council for 11 years, was released on $500 bond Wednesday after pleading guilty in U. S. District Court to charges of failing to pay federal income taxes of $18,802 in 1958. Judge James C. Connell delayed sentencing pending a report from the probation department.

Innocent Plea Given To Murder Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Machinist Albert Lewellyn pleaded innocent Wednesday to a charge he murdered his girl friend in an argument over whether he loved her.

Llewellyn, 40, faces trial March 27. He also pleaded innocent by reason of insanity. He is charged with shooting Angelina King, 37, last December.

OK Acquisition

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) — Stockholders of Ashland Oil & Refining Co. have approved the proposed acquisition of United Carbon Co. Ashland said it plans to acquire United Carbon assets, valued at about $150 million, for about $50.50 million.

Director At Baldwin-Wallace To Lead County Band Event

Dr. Kenneth O. Snapp, director of bands of Baldwin - Wallace College in Berea, since 1955, will be the guest director at the Columbiana County Music Festival Feb. 22 at Lisbon High School.

He was awarded his Ph.D. in 1953 at Indiana University, where he served as visiting band director.

He was graduated cum laude from the University of Miami in Florida in 1939 with a bachelor's degree. In 1947 he was awarded his master of music degree from the University of Michigan.

His public school experience dates to 1939 when he was band director of Cross City (Fla.) schools for three years. Following a four-year tour (1942-46) of Air Force duty, he became director of bands at the Clayton (Mo.) public schools.

He is an advisor to the Baldwin-Wallace band fraternity, Kappa Psi, and the national band sorority, Tau Beta Sigma.

His offices and club affiliations include National Association of Band Directors, district governor of Kappa Kappa Psi, member of the state board of the Ohio Music Education Association and former district president of OMEA.

Under Dr. Snapp's direction, the concert band went on six-day tour of eastern cities, climaxed with an evening concert in Carnegie Hall. This was the first Ohio college or university band ever to present a concert in Carnegie Hall.

City And Beaver Falls Store Heads 'Switch'

The managers of the local A.&P. super-market and the one at Beaver Falls have switched positions.

Charles W. Shriver, who served here for seven years, has been transferred to Beaver Falls while Ray Blowers, former manager at Beaver Falls, has been moved here.

The change was effective Monday. Shriver has been active in local civic afairs and one time served as president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Blowers served at Beaver Falls for 22 years. He is married and has a daughter.

Shriver plans to continue residing at 236½ W. 5th St. for the present.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I have some hints for the lunch box packer. The idea about using the chemical which you freeze to keep sandwiches cool is a good idea, but that Mother's idea about freezing the sandwiches was even better!

By eating time the sandwiches and other things are just right for eating. I also freeze cakes, cookies, and so forth. I make up a quantity of sandwiches and cakes and freeze them all. All I have to do in the mornings is take them out of the freezer and put them into the lunch box.

Here are my hints for packing a good lunch:

Try not to have sandwiches for dinner when the lunch carrier is home.

Variety: Don't have the same thing in the lunch as they had at home the day before.

Arrange the lunch box neatly and appetizing and in the order of eating.

Make sure all the necessary things are in the lunch box, such as a fork, napkin and, most important, salt.

Some other hints on variety: Have the lunch carriers pick out their own lunchmeat . . . there are a lot of different kinds, thank goodness. Freeze fried chicken and put it in the lunch when they least expect it!

Have hard-boiled eggs, containers of gelatin, potato salad and relishes.

Have different drinks and different types of potato chips such as onion-flavored, etc.

Have soup or stew in an extra little vaccum bottle during cold weather. It may cost a little more but it will sure make a nicer meal for the lunch carrier. Right?

SANDRA SMITH.

DEAR SANDRA:

You are so right!

Even those who do not carry lunches — I am speaking of my mothers and homemakers— I wonder if they are aware that when they are in the mood they could do this for themselves? Then when lunchtime rolls around—and we are not in the mood to cook or dirty our kitchen because we have worked all morning to get it clean—our sandwiches would be ready to eat.

HELOISE.

I do not have an electric dishwasher but did you know that if you rinse a mayonnaise jar out with vinegar it will cut all of the grease immediately?

L.V.

Economy Cuts

DEAR HELOISE: Instead of buying pork chops, I buy pork roast. It's less expensive, and of course I cut it myself to make my own chops.

For swiss steak I buy a chuck roast, cut it in half and prepare it for swiss steak. It takes a little longer to cook but uses less money too.

MANKATO.

-:-

You're sure right about that swiss steak and the pork chops too. Just the thought of a good swiss steak loaded with onions makes me hungry right now.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: The yardstick is a convenience when hanging curtains. It is never easy to distribute the gathers at the top evenly. I spread them as evenly as possible, then step down off my ladder, get my yardstick and move my gathers into perfect folds. By standing away from the curtain and letting the yardstick do the work for you . . . it is easier to spot where too many folds are.

Larry Haines Plays Dual Career Role

Every Wednesday matinee at New York's Eugene O'Neill Theater, where a very funny play called "A Thousand Clowns" is playing, an actor who looks like your wife's older brother—and you know: The one who runs the diner—walks on stage and the place comes apart at the seams. The Wednesday ladies, friends of long standing, are delighted to see that nice man Stu Bergman in the flesh.

-:-

"HI, STU!" cried a sweet dumpling of a thing from the next table as I lunched with Hines the other day.

"Aren't you Stu Bergman?" asked another, bending over our table.

"Stu Bergman," Hines told me, "was quite a clown when I started in the part 10½ years ago. Now he's mellowed a bit. He's happy-go-lucky, sentimental, lighthearted, pensive, though in one story line, which ran for a year, I was suspected of having an affair.

"Then in another, I was accused of murdering my son-in-law. Well, actually I didn't know whether I did it or not. No one knew until toward the end of the story, months later.

"It had been an accidental thing. But all through it, people would write in and advise me what to do. Many of them said, 'I'll never watch the show again if you're guilty.'"

-:-

PLAYING simultaneously on Broadway and on television creates problems for Haines.

"Theater and TV are very different techniques though not incompatible. (Have you ever met a carpenter who says he works well with pine but not at all well with oak?)

"Being in a play and learning new lines every day for a serial can, of course, be nerve wracking for an actor who isn't used to it. Plenty of well known theater people just can't do it.

"I live in Weston, Conn., and the two jobs play havoc with my home life. I just have to stay over in town on days when I'm on television.

"Radio prepared me for all of this, though. On radio I'd do four shows in one day, going from a nasty murderer to the romantic lead.

"Once I was on two radio networks in the same half hour. The first 10 minutes were on an NBC show; then I'd go winging over to CBS by taxi to be heard in the last 10 minutes of that show.

-:-

"YOU LEARNED concentration in radio, immediate analysis, adaptability, flexibility. Radio had imagination. Maybe you'd envision the Lone Ranger as being 7 feet tall and I'd see him at 5-8; we'd both be creating our own images.

"Radio was hectic. I remember one fussy, fidgety director we had who got us all on edge. We pulled a stunt on him one day. We set the clocks ahead a half hour and then 'went on the air' in a mock broadcast 30 minutes before our real time.

"We let it go all right for awhile and then began flubbing our lines. One of the actors said, 'I just can't read that &!:&$?$ line!' The director almost fell into tears, and he mended his ways.

-:-

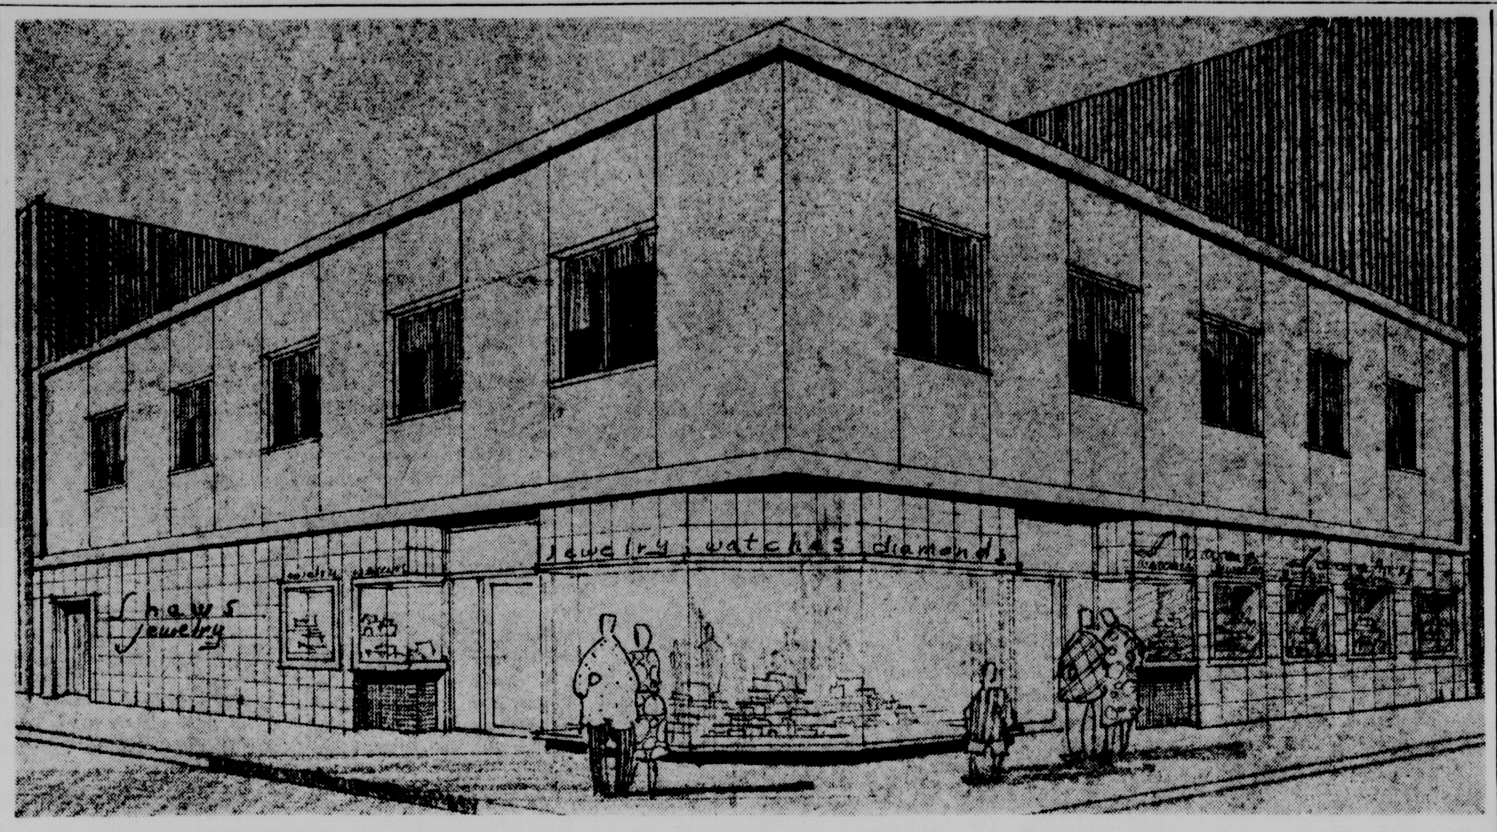
"I REMEMBER Orson Welles pulling the same thing on a director of his. It was on 'Playhouse' in the mid-'40s and there was Wells bowing low to that evening's guest and dropping his script all over the stage.

"The poor director was scampering around picking up the pages when he noticed that Wells was reading from another script—the real one."

Haines was reminded once more of those millions of ladies who listen to the soap operas.

"Ah, they're lovely," he said. "I remember during a radio series called Rosemary one of the lines I had to say in almost every episode was 'Good night, baby.'

"One night, at bedtime, I got a phone call. Long distance from Kansas City. 'Would you say "Good night baby," to me,' said this woman's voice, 'just like you say it on "Rosemary"?' 'All right,' I said. 'Good night, baby.' She seemed satisfied and hung up."



PROPOSED NEW STRUCTURE. This is an architect's conception of the new two-story commercial building Jack M. Shaw plans to erect on the site of the present Altman building at 5th and Market Sts. Shaw will move his jewelry store to the modern building from its present location on Washington St. Purchase of the property from Harry Altman was announced last month by Shaw, who said demolition of the four-story building will begin about March 1. The Altman building formerly housed the Peoples Drugstore. The new structure will have a 50-foot frontage on E. 5th St. and 40 feet on Market.

Honor Society Nominates 8

LISBON — Eight new members were nominated to the David Anderson High School National Honor Society at a special assembly in the high school auditorium Wednesday, according to Principal George Nace.

Dr. George Parkinson, pastor of the Christ United Presbyterian Church at Canton, was guest speaker.

Seniors nominated were Miss Gloria Baker, Miss Darlene Burton, Freddie Dungan and Richard Zitto.

Juniors nominated were Miss Lynne Balmos, Miss Heather Cameron, David McPherson and Charles Yoos.

Present members of the society are Georgeanne Sexton, Sandy North, David Klug and Larry McPherson.

Each nominee must be in the upper third of his class and is selected by faculty members in a secret ballot.

Awards Given Scout Groups In Annual St. Ann Dinner

Awards were presented at the annual dinner of the Boy Scout Troop and Cub Scout Pack 60 of St. Ann Catholic Church Monday evening at the church hall.

Ray Fellure, cubmaster, and Bill Purton, chairman of the pack committee, presented cub awards.

Recipients were Charles Papendry, Mike Linville and Larry Robinson, wolfe badge; Craig Means, Webelos badge, three-year service star and a graduation certificate; Robert Hocking, three-year star and a certificate; Pat Purton, lion badge and two - year star; Joe Fellure, assistant denner stripe; Jonathan Ramsey, two-year pin as den chief and appreciation certificate and George Richards, den chief cord.

Adults of the pack receiving service pins were Robert Hocking, three years; James Canton, treasurer, three years, and Purton, and Jesse Vallera, one year. Richard Bryan and Ernest Bell were introduced as new committeemen.

During a Court of Honor, Ramsey and Jesse Vallera, assistant scoutmaster, presented awards to troop members.

Robert Hocking, Craig Means, Anthony Brown, Gary Thayer, Jimmy Stone and Joseph Cramer Jr., tenderfoot; John Chan, Mike Hargraves and Andy Hughes, first class; Dave Hargraves, star and merit badges for painting and citizenship in the home; Jonathan Ramsey, merit badges for wood-carving, coin collecting and camping, four-year perfect attendance bar and four-year service pin, and Bill Carter, Dave Hargraves and Jim Hocking, trained Junior leader certificates and patches.

Frank Arcuri, troop committee chairman, received two-year pin and George Hargraves Jr., James Brown and Milford Carter were presented as new committeemen.

Robert Hocking, institutional representative, introduced the guest speakers and their wives—Bob Gray, Cherokee District Scout executive; Frank Rossi, district vice chairman; Don Ramsey, organization extension chairman; Don Theiss, training chairman, and Bill Rayburn, camping and activity chairman.

Fr. Thomas Beldue, pastor, gave the invocation.

The dinner committee was headed by Mrs. Mary Hocking, Mrs. Mary Vallera and Mrs. Robert Bosco.

Mrs. Francis Ramsey, Mrs. Amelia Richards, Mrs. Mary Robinson, Mrs. Phyllis Fellure and Mrs. Iris Stone, den mothers, were in charge of table decorations.

The troop will camp for the weekend at Camp McKinley near Lisbon and Cub Pack members will visit them Saturday.

3 Homemaker Groups Will Meet Next Week

LISBON — Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture, said three Columbiana County Home Demonstration Groups will meet Tuesday.

Furniture refinishing will be presented at a meeting of the Hanover Township group at 10 a. m. at the Hanoverton Christian Church.

A program on "Wardrobe Magic," will be presented for the Columbiana group at 1 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Harold Roberts of the Lower Elkton Rd.

Meal planning with frozen foods will be presented for the Unity Mothers' Study Club at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Arion Lipp of Springfield Rd.

'College Admission' Theme Of South Side PTA Meeting

The importance of the high school scholastic record was stressed during a discussion on "College Admission" at the meeting of the South Side Parent - Teacher Association Monday night at the elementary school near Hookstown.

Clifford Campbell, assistant to the dean of admissions at the University of Pennsylvania, pointed out the high school record is one of the first items to be checked when an applicant applies for entrance.

But the record is just as important for those who do not plan to attend college, Campbell emphasized. A movie of the Penn campus was shown.

Mrs. Norman Brooks clarified how the pledge of allegiance should be recited, explaining there is no pause between "one nation" and "under God."

The need for more non-fiction books as well as scientific, history and literature books in the library was cited by Mrs. John Herron, library chairman.

A drive is expected to begin within two weeks to obtain books or funds with which to purchase needed books, Mrs. Herron announced.

Mrs. Richard Trimble, ways and means chairman, reported on progress for the smorgasbord dinner the PTA will serve Feb. 23 from 5 to 7:30 p. m. The dinner will be followed by a Mardi Gras sponsored by the Citizens Association at which a king and queen will be crowned and floats will be judged.

On motion of Mrs. Roy Berninger, letters will be sent to state representatives pledging the PTA's support of any legislation against abuse of children in their homes.

With Sunday marking the 66th anniversary of the founding of the national PTA, Mrs. Franklin Walker, president, explained its history and purpose.

A Founder's Day tea was held with Mrs. Walker and Mrs. John McCoy pouring at a table centered with flowers and a silver service. Mrs. Dorothy Yanchik, hospitality chairman, and committee were in charge.

Devotions were led by the Rev. Robert Kern, pastor of the nondenominational Community Bible Chapel near Aliquippa.

The attendance banners were won by Richard Davis' fifth grade and the sophomore homeroom of Mrs. Chester Elliott.

Next meeting is March 11.

Junior High Science Fair Slated At Lisbon

LISBON — The second annual Junior High Science Fair will be held at Lincoln School Feb. 21, according to John Lewis, principal.

The exhibits will be set up in the afternoon, followed by judging early in the evening. The exhibits will be open to the public between 7:30 and 9:30.

Last year, more than 400 persons viewed the exhibits.

Top exhibits will be eligible to participate in the Tri - State Science Fair at Steubenville and the High School Science Fair in March.

Instructors are Richard Jones, Otto Ramlow and Jack Herrod.

Dr. Sheppard's Father-In-Law Kills Himself

CLEVELAND (AP) — The 62-year-old father-in-law of convicted wife-slayer Sam Sheppard, has taken his own life with a shotgun blast.

"I'm tired of it all. Goodbye," Thomas S. Reese said in a note on a couch in an East Cleveland motel room where he was found dead, Detective Sgt. Fred Schuller said. A 16-gauge shotgun lay near the body.

Reese was the father of murdered Marilyn Sheppard. He reportedly had lived at the motel for several years. He was vice president of Di-Noc Chemical Arts Co., a photographic materials producer.

He remarried after Marilyn's mother died when Marilyn was a small child.

Dr. Lester Adelson said Reese apparently shot himself in the head.

Reese, noted for his quiet manner, had declined comment on the jury verdict which convicted Dr. Sam of the bludgeon slaying of his pregnant wife in their suburban Bay Village home on July 4, 1954.

PROPOSED NEW STRUCTURE. This is an architect's conception of the new two-story commercial building Jack M. Shaw plans to erect on the site of the present Altman building at 5th and Market Sts. Shaw will move his jewelry store to the modern building from its present location on Washington St. Purchase of the property from Harry Altman was announced last month by Shaw, who said demolition of the four-story building will begin about March 1. The Altman building formerly housed the Peoples Drugstore. The new structure will have a 50-foot frontage on E. 5th St. and 40 feet on Market.

Awards Given Scout Groups In Annual St. Ann Dinner

Awards were presented at the annual dinner of the Boy Scout Troop and Cub Scout Pack 60 of St. Ann Catholic Church Monday evening at the church hall.

Ray Fellure, cubmaster, and Bill Purton, chairman of the pack committee, presented cub awards.

Recipients were Charles Papendry, Mike Linville and Larry Robinson, wolfe badge; Craig Means, Webelos badge, three-year service star and a graduation certificate; Robert Hocking, three-year star and a certificate; Pat Purton, lion badge and two - year star; Joe Fellure, assistant denner stripe; Jonathan Ramsey, two-year pin as den chief and appreciation certificate and George Richards, den chief cord.

Adults of the pack receiving service pins were Robert Hocking, three years; James Canton, treasurer, three years, and Purton, and Jesse Vallera, one year. Richard Bryan and Ernest Bell were introduced as new committeemen.

During a Court of Honor, Ramsey and Jesse Vallera, assistant scoutmaster, presented awards to troop members.

Fr. Thomas Beldue, pastor, gave the invocation.

The dinner committee was headed by Mrs. Mary Hocking, Mrs. Mary Vallera and Mrs. Robert Bosco.

Mrs. Francis Ramsey, Mrs. Amelia Richards, Mrs. Mary Robinson, Mrs. Phyllis Fellure and Mrs. Iris Stone, den mothers, were in charge of table decorations.

The troop will camp for the weekend at Camp McKinley near Lisbon and Cub Pack members will visit them Saturday.

'College Admission' Theme Of South Side PTA Meeting

The importance of the high school scholastic record was stressed during a discussion on "College Admission" at the meeting of the South Side Parent - Teacher Association Monday night at the elementary school near Hookstown.

Clifford Campbell, assistant to the dean of admissions at the University of Pennsylvania, pointed out the high school record is one of the first items to be checked when an applicant applies for entrance.

But the record is just as important for those who do not plan to attend college, Campbell emphasized. A movie of the Penn campus was shown.

Mrs. Norman Brooks clarified how the pledge of allegiance should be recited, explaining there is no pause between "one nation" and "under God."

The need for more non-fiction books as well as scientific, history and literature books in the library was cited by Mrs. John Herron, library chairman.

A drive is expected to begin within two weeks to obtain books or funds with which to purchase needed books, Mrs. Herron announced.

Mrs. Richard Trimble, ways and means chairman, reported on progress for the smorgasbord dinner the PTA will serve Feb. 23 from 5 to 7:30 p. m. The dinner will be followed by a Mardi Gras sponsored by the Citizens Association at which a king and queen will be crowned and floats will be judged.

On motion of Mrs. Roy Berninger, letters will be sent to state representatives pledging the PTA's support of any legislation against abuse of children in their homes.

With Sunday marking the 66th anniversary of the founding of the national PTA, Mrs. Franklin Walker, president, explained its history and purpose.

A Founder's Day tea was held with Mrs. Walker and Mrs. John McCoy pouring at a table centered with flowers and a silver service. Mrs. Dorothy Yanchik, hospitality chairman, and committee were in charge.

Devotions were led by the Rev. Robert Kern, pastor of the nondenominational Community Bible Chapel near Aliquippa.

The attendance banners were won by Richard Davis' fifth grade and the sophomore homeroom of Mrs. Chester Elliott.

Next meeting is March 11.

Dr. Sheppard's Father-In-Law Kills Himself

CLEVELAND (AP) — The 62-year-old father-in-law of convicted wife-slayer Sam Sheppard, has taken his own life with a shotgun blast.

"I'm tired of it all. Goodbye," Thomas S. Reese said in a note on a couch in an East Cleveland motel room where he was found dead, Detective Sgt. Fred Schuller said. A 16-gauge shotgun lay near the body.

Reese was the father of murdered Marilyn Sheppard. He reportedly had lived at the motel for several years. He was vice president of Di-Noc Chemical Arts Co., a photographic materials producer.

He remarried after Marilyn's mother died when Marilyn was a small child.

Dr. Lester Adelson said Reese apparently shot himself in the head.

Council At Steubenville Told Of Merger Support

STEUBENVILLE — Positive support for the proposed Pennsylvania - New York Central merger would match the expressed support of industries in the area and be in the best interests of Steubenville, a railroad spokesman told City Council Wednesday night.

Walter L. Butz, freight train master for the Pennsylvania Railroad's Pittsburgh Region, pointed to the support of steel and chemical industries in the area and said in part:

"These industries, who work with our railroad from day - to - day, have learned over the years that the quality of the service they receive is dependent to a degree upon our economic health. Each of you gentlemen, I am sure, have a basic desire to help the industries operating in this area. These industries have supported this merger because they believe our increased efficiency will help them in their own competitive struggle."

Witnesses supporting the merger before the Interstate Commerce Commission have included Weirton Steel Co., Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., Koppers Co., and many others with headquarters or operations in Ohio.)

Butz said that the sole reason for the proposed merger is "to bring about a transportation agency which is economically healthy and capable of providing improved service with increased efficiency."

Referring to the Steubenville area, the speaker said that as late as 1957 there were 101,452 loaded freight cars originating here, but in 1962 the total had fallen to 56,230, a decrease of 44.6 per cent, although the industries are shipping more tonnage than they did in 1950.

"The problems which I have enumerated are universally acknowledged to exist. It is recognized that they place the railroad industry in a perilous condition, which jeopardizes our ability to perform the service rightfully expected of us. In spite of these facts, the opponents of this merger have not offered a single alternate workable solution."

The speaker said that declining traffic and resulting unhealthy financial condition of the Pennsylvania and Central railroads had produced a decline in jobs at the rate of 11,000 a year for the past 10 years.

He said that despite statements to the contrary, there would be no elimination of trains serving the area.

Butz said that all freight originating from, or destined to local industry would continue to be handled through Weirton and Mingo Junction yards and that "it could not be diverted from this area by merger or any cause other than diversion to other modes of transportation."

Based on present traffic volume, Butz declared, railroad taxes to Steubenville would be reduced by approximately 8 per cent under merger.

"If the merger is not approved, we face the continuing loss of traffic and you will subsequently lose a great deal more in taxes."

The speaker pointed out that local industries which have customers, suppliers and plants located on the New York Central would no longer experience delays at interchange points with the Pennsy and that in many cases service would be speeded by 24 hours or more.

Judge Orders Briefs On Dispute In Strike

CINCINNATI (AP) — Common Pleas Court Judge Louis J. Schneider has given attorneys for the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers Union and the Trailmobile Corp. 14 days to file briefs about a dispute that stems from a wildcat strike last month.

Trailmobile's 1,100 employes walked out on Jan. 21 to protest changes in work rules. The company has accused officers of Auto Workers Local 392 of not trying hard enough to make them go back to work.

Beaver Jail Escape Trio Receives Terms

Three men who escaped a week ago from the Beaver County Jail were sentenced today to terms of 25-50 years on charges of armed robbery, aggravated assault and battery and prison breach.

Judges Morgan H. Sohn and Robert E. McCreary handed down the stiff sentences to Robert Lenigan and Albert Sheetz, both of Pittsburgh, and Charles Groves of Wooster.

Former American League infielder Billy Goodman will manage Durham, N. C.

Albert Kell presided. Lunch was served by Forrest McDonald and William McKnight.

The group will meet March 13.

St. Clair Job Near Bidding

of 50 per cent federal aid for the work.

The Division 11 officials were invited here primarily to discuss the city's request for a project to widen Lisbon St. and eliminate the curves. Lisbon St. is a link in State Route 267's path through the city.

It was Nelson's first trip to East Liverpool since assuming the post, replacing William B. McKenna of Lisbon. He is the former Steubenville city engineer.

AFTER conferring for approximately 45 minutes in the mayor's office, the group made an auto tour over Route 267 to the city limits, stopping on the return trip to examine the site in Sunnyside where the city has asked the state and federal governments to install a ramp to link up the two dead-end sections of W. 9th St.

After the tour, Nelson asked the city administration to prepare a written proposal for the Highway Department, explaining the work it proposes on Lisbon St. The mayor said the proposal will be outlined in a letter for the division head.

The auto caravan halted on W. 9th St.'s western dead-end to allow the Highway Department officials to examine the area in which the ramp has been sought—an overhead structure spanning the new California Hollow - West End Freeway.

The tour was made by Nelson, Mayor Goodballet, Berg, Zollinger, Laughlin, Owen, Welch, Bloomgren and Jenkins.

The group also examined a short stretch of pavement on the East Liverpool-Wellsville "super-road" inside the city limits which the city contends is in need of repair.

—:—

MUCH OF the discussion in the mayor's office centered on construction of the next city stage of the freeway — extending it eastward toward the Ohio - Pennsylvania line.

Bloomgren said the next stage probably will extend from the freeway's present terminus at W. 3rd and Monroe Sts. to a point near State St. in East End—a distance of 1.8 miles.

The administration suggested to Council about a year ago that authorization be given the administration to seek a federal loan for planning the next stage, he said. Eventually, the four - lane road will extend to the state line.

Bloomgren said probably three years would elapse between the time planning began and construction was started on the next stage. Two years probably would be required for planning, he said.

JENKINS commented the next stage might be broken into two projects — one from W. 3rd and Monroe to the Chester Bridge and the next from the bridge to State St. He agreed with Bloomgren the project "is three or four years in the future."

Bloomgren said no definite decision has been made on whether the freeway will follow E. 2nd St. or E. 3rd St. A suggestion drafted in 1945 by a consulting engineering firm proposed E. 2nd St. as the route.

After making an inter - connection with the end of the Chester Bridge, the road would pass along the hillside above the River Rd. as its path to East End, according to the 1945 proposal. But Bloomgren said thorough studies would have to be made of the proposed route because it contains many old clay mine and coal mine shafts and is subject to landslides.

The highway officials suggested a preliminary "design report," a thorough investigation of the proposed route, listing all its advantages and drawbacks.

There was a brief discussion on a proposal to re-locate State Route 39 from the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." to the River Rd., but no decision was reached. Jenkins suggested Council file a petition with the division office requesting the change.

"Then we will give you our reaction," he said.

Employe Named At Sewage Plant

The Board of Public Utilities announced today James Nottingham, 721 North St., has been named an operator at the city sewage treatment plant, filling the vacancy created by the resignation of Francis Cubberly of Bank St.

Nottingham was appointed from a list of names certified by the Civil Service Commission. He will begin work Saturday. Nottingham was employed last by Floyd Cox, building contractor. The post pays $345 monthly.

Cubberly resigned late in January after he was appointed superintendent of a treatment plant at Greenfield in Highland County. He was employed at the local plant almost five years.

Cubberly wound up his duties here Feb. 1. He will report to the Greenfield plant Friday.

Newell Club Views Abstract Art

With a controversy raging in West Virginia about the State Centennial Commission's exhibition of "way out" painting and sculpture, the Newell Women's Club turned its attention to art at a meeting Monday night in the American Legion home.

Kesling, instructor of art workshops in Weirton and New Cumberland, visited the centennial's exhibition in Huntington, but reserved comment on a painting called "West Virginia Moon," center of the controversy.

Done on six old boards, with a broken screen-door frame nailed on, "Moon" won first prize in the division for West Virginia Artists and Mountaineers have reacted with outraged howls of lament.

Kesling spoke on art and invited the club to visit the art exhibit at the Swaney Gallery in New Cumberland. He was introduced by Mrs. Copestick, program chairman.

Mrs. Tony LaNeve, vice president, conducted brief business. A letter of application for post of playground supervisor was read from Miss Susan Logston.

Mrs. LaNeve presented a report on a recent bake sale, and Mrs. Albert Logston reported on activities of the "Help a Child To Health Council."

Mrs. Ward Jackson was named chairman of a committee to purchase a new coffee urn. Mrs. Ronald Eckleberry lead devotions and the club creed was read in unison.

Lunch was served 30 by the hostesses, Mrs. Virgil Grimm, Miss Dorothy Talbott, Mrs. Donald Thornberry and Mrs. Daniel Stockdale. A white cloth covered with red knit and red candles in milk glass, and a red and white floral centerpiece conveyed the "Valentine Day" theme in the appointments.

Next meeting is Feb. 25 with "Guest Night" to be observed. Mrs. McEldowney will be program chairman.

Heathertones Entertain For BPW Club's Dinner

A variety of selections were presented by "The Heathertones," international second - place medalists of Sweet Adelines, Inc., at the dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club Wednesday night at the Travelers Hotel.

Appearing in valentine costumes of red and white, they are Mrs. Lorida Harvey, Mrs. Betty Pettibon, Miss Norma Jones and Mrs. Bette Damaska. Their selections included "Side By Side" and "Wait Till the Sun Shines Nellie", the numbers which won second place at the competition of 39 quartets last fall in Toronto, Canada.

Mrs. Pettibon was mistress of ceremonies. The quartet was introduced by Mrs. Virginia Manypenny.

Miss Frances Jones, chairman of the world affairs committee in charge of the program, screened a color film on the Peace Corps, narrated by Dave Garroway. She was assisted by Mrs. Kathleen Reed and Miss Hazel McShane.

Misses Patty Nolan and Lynn McGaffic, members of the Future Business Women's Club of the high school, outlined activities of the club this past year.

Mrs. Helen Moore, president, conducted business. Reports were heard from Miss Roberta Pennybaker, secretary; Miss Helen Auld, treasurer, and Mrs. Mildred Urie, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, chairman of the civic participation committee, reported on the national essay contest, asking that all entries be turned in by March 1 with the local winner to be announced at the next meeting.

Mrs. Ruthella Kerr announced the second annual College of Arts and Hobbies, sponsored by the Wellsville Women's Civic Club, will begin March 7 for eight consecutive weeks. Interested women may call Mrs. Helen Welch, chairman.

Mrs. Ethel Lynn Wambaugh, state personal development chairman, reported on the conference she directed in Columbus. She was featured in the recent issue of The Ohio Business Woman.

She presented the accepted by-laws and the club voted to have them printed for distribution. She is also taking reservations for the dinner meeting of the Lisbon club March 6 when Mrs. Goldie Smith, district director, will be speaker.

Mrs. Wambaugh read the State Board recommendations as presented at the January meeting in Columbus. She announced the state convention is May 17-19, at Columbus and advance reservations must be made for all meals.

Miss Joan Witt, membership chairman, read the list of approved prospective members and invitations have been mailed. They will be voted on at the next meeting.

Mrs. Gertrude Sixt reported on the meeting of the state nominating committee held last week in Columbus. Mrs. Mary McCullough was elected as a candidate of the club for this committee.

A contribution was allotted for the Columbiana County Mental Health Association's proposed clinic.

Mrs. Moore is taking reservations for the card party and style show of the Youngstown club Feb. 23 in the ballroom of the Mural Building.

The tables were decorated with novelty dish gardens and Lincoln log cabins. Patriotic program booklets and hatchet candy basket favors were made by the third grade of Glenmoor School. Miss Judy Manypenny and Miss Beth Wolfe assisted Mrs. Lillie Belle Leonard with decorations. Mrs. Adeline Mac Burney gave the blessing.

Anniversary Dinner Planned By Lisbon Eagles Auxiliary

Plans for the 12th anniversary dinner were completed when the auxiliary of the Lisbon Eagles Aerie met Tuesday night at the lodge home with Mrs. Paul Crosser, president, presiding.

The anniversary event will be held Sunday with dinner at 5 p. m., a program of games and grabbags, followed by dancing from 7 to 10 to the music of the Aristocrats.

Reservations must be made by Friday.

Secretary Reads Bills

Mrs. Louis Hedl, secretary, read bills and communications. Hostesses were Mrs. Raymond Reese and Mrs. Hughie Evans. Mrs. Crosser won a prize.

Next meeting is Feb. 26 at 8 p. m.

Fifteen attended Sewing Day at St. Jacob's United Church of Christ Tuesday with Mrs. Edgar Sommers in charge.

For World Service projects, they completed four baby comforts, finished one quilt, started another and made four quilt patches.

A sack lunch was served at noon.

Lisbon Home and Garden Club members were guests of Mrs. Leland Douglas of E. High St. Tuesday evening.

Picture Report Given

A picture report of Williamsburg, Va., was the program presented by Mrs. Galen Bye.

Next meeting is March 2 with Mrs. Richard Bowling of E. Lincoln Way.

The WSCS of the Methodist Church met Monday night with the Inez Marsden Circle hostess unit with 50 attending.

Mrs. Donald Dawes, society president, presided for business meeting when announcements were made of forthcoming events.

The World Day of Prayer observance sponsored by the Lisbon Council of United Church Women, will be held at the Methodist Church March 1.

"Quiet Day" for the district WSCS will be held March 4 at the Methodist Church in Wellsville and the Rev. Richard Drake of Rocky River will be speaker.

The Commission on Membership and Evangelism of the Lisbon and Elkton churches will sponsor a conference on school and discipleship March 18, 19, 20 and 21 at the Lisbon church.

Dr. G. Byron Deshler of Nashville, Tenn., a member of the National Board of Evangelism of the Methodist church will conduct the school.

A quilt made by the Orpha Quilting Society was displayed for sale.

The program was arranged by the Inez Marsden circle of which Mrs. Duane Bruey is president.

Mrs. William L. Brown, assisted by Mrs. Peter Cibula and Mrs. Don Myers, led devotions.

"Don't Just Stand There" was the book reviewed by Mrs. Guy Byers of Salem, who was introduced by Mrs. Don Morris, program chairman.

Hostesses were Mrs. Charles Pike, Mrs. Kenneth Mugridge, Mrs. Harold Kepner and Mrs. Albert Webber.

Miss Bonnie Crosser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Crosser of Washington St., a junior at Mt. Union College, Alliance, served as scholarship chairman for the Alpha XI Delta Sorority, which took top honors of the four national sororities at the college for the first semester.

Robert Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Baker of E. Chestnut St., was ordained as a deacon Sunday at the Second Presbyterian Church at Chattanooga, Tenn. He is employed there by the Provident Life & Accident Insurance Co. and is a member of the University Chattanooga mathematics teaching staff. Mrs. Baker attended the ordination service.

The Lisbon High School Class of 1958 will hold a baked goods benefit Saturday beginning at 9 a. m. at the Masonic Temple. Proceeds will be used for the class reunion Aug. 3.

Water Mains Thawed With Welder's Rig

Note to householders struggling with blow torches, electric irons, hot water bottles or other improvised remedies for frozen water lines:

It's no trick at all if you have a commercial welding outfit that can send 480 amperes of current surging through the pipe.

That's how the city water department takes care of frozen mains.

Supt. Donald T. Duke took time out today to explain the city's technique, which it used several times over the weekend to thaw ice that was blocking its lines.

Using a gasoline-powered direct current generator hired from a welder, the linesmen hook the electrodes onto the main — one at either side of the frozen spot.

Then they start up the generator and send a 480-ampere current surging through the metal pipe — an induction process that generates enough heat to thaw the ice.

A short distance from the frozen spot, the crew makes a one-inch tap into the line and hooks on a hose. As the ice thaws, the cold water and shreds of ice pour out through the hose.

Sometimes the frozen pipe is cleared in an hour or two. In stubborn cases, the current streams through the pipe for hours before the stoppage is cleared.

The welding equipment was used to clear ice from a frozen four-inch line on Ray St. Wednesday. Meanwhile, the ice had broken the line, so that necessitated repair.

Duke said the ice was thawed last night, then the leak was detected. The line is being fixed today with a repair sleeve. The work will be finished sometime today, allowing service to be restored for nearby homes.

To provide temporary water service for Ray St. residents, a spigot was hooked onto a fire hydrant. Seven homes were left without water by the frozen line.

Earlier, the city thawed a frozen line on Center St., Beechwood, using the same technique. It had left two homes without water.

St. Clair Job Near Bidding

of 50 per cent federal aid for the work.

The Division 11 officials were invited here primarily to discuss the city's request for a project to widen Lisbon St. and eliminate the curves. Lisbon St. is a link in State Route 267's path through the city.

It was Nelson's first trip to East Liverpool since assuming the post, replacing William B. McKenna of Lisbon. He is the former Steubenville city engineer.

AFTER conferring for approximately 45 minutes in the mayor's office, the group made an auto tour over Route 267 to the city limits, stopping on the return trip to examine the site in Sunnyside where the city has asked the state and federal governments to install a ramp to link up the two dead-end sections of W. 9th St.

After the tour, Nelson asked the city administration to prepare a written proposal for the Highway Department, explaining the work it proposes on Lisbon St. The mayor said the proposal will be outlined in a letter for the division head.

The auto caravan halted on W. 9th St.'s western dead-end to allow the Highway Department officials to examine the area in which the ramp has been sought—an overhead structure spanning the new California Hollow - West End Freeway.

The tour was made by Nelson, Mayor Goodballet, Berg, Zollinger, Laughlin, Owen, Welch, Bloomgren and Jenkins.

The group also examined a short stretch of pavement on the East Liverpool-Wellsville "super-road" inside the city limits which the city contends is in need of repair.

MUCH OF the discussion in the mayor's office centered on construction of the next city stage of the freeway — extending it eastward toward the Ohio - Pennsylvania line.

Bloomgren said the next stage probably will extend from the freeway's present terminus at W. 3rd and Monroe Sts. to a point near State St. in East End—a distance of 1.8 miles.

The administration suggested to Council about a year ago that authorization be given the administration to seek a federal loan for planning the next stage, he said. Eventually, the four - lane road will extend to the state line.

Bloomgren said probably three years would elapse between the time planning began and construction was started on the next stage. Two years probably would be required for planning, he said.

JENKINS commented the next stage might be broken into two projects — one from W. 3rd and Monroe to the Chester Bridge and the next from the bridge to State St. He agreed with Bloomgren the project "is three or four years in the future."

Bloomgren said no definite decision has been made on whether the freeway will follow E. 2nd St. or E. 3rd St. A suggestion drafted in 1945 by a consulting engineering firm proposed E. 2nd St. as the route.

After making an inter - connection with the end of the Chester Bridge, the road would pass along the hillside above the River Rd. as its path to East End, according to the 1945 proposal. But Bloomgren said thorough studies would have to be made of the proposed route because it contains many old clay mine and coal mine shafts and is subject to landslides.

The highway officials suggested a preliminary "design report," a thorough investigation of the proposed route, listing all its advantages and drawbacks.

There was a brief discussion on a proposal to re-locate State Route 39 from the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." to the River Rd., but no decision was reached. Jenkins suggested Council file a petition with the division office requesting the change.

"Then we will give you our reaction," he said.

Employe Named At Sewage Plant

The Board of Public Utilities announced today James Nottingham, 721 North St., has been named an operator at the city sewage treatment plant, filling the vacancy created by the resignation of Francis Cubberly of Bank St.

Nottingham was appointed from a list of names certified by the Civil Service Commission. He will begin work Saturday. Nottingham was employed last by Floyd Cox, building contractor. The post pays $345 monthly.

Cubberly resigned late in January after he was appointed superintendent of a treatment plant at Greenfield in Highland County. He was employed at the local plant almost five years.

Cubberly wound up his duties here Feb. 1. He will report to the Greenfield plant Friday.

Newell Club Views Abstract Art

With a controversy raging in West Virginia about the State Centennial Commission's exhibition of "way out" painting and sculpture, the Newell Women's Club turned its attention to art at a meeting Monday night in the American Legion home.

Kesling, instructor of art workshops in Weirton and New Cumberland, visited the centennial's exhibition in Huntington, but reserved comment on a painting called "West Virginia Moon," center of the controversy.

Done on six old boards, with a broken screen-door frame nailed on, "Moon" won first prize in the division for West Virginia Artists and Mountaineers have reacted with outraged howls of lament.

Kesling spoke on art and invited the club to visit the art exhibit at the Swaney Gallery in New Cumberland. He was introduced by Mrs. Copestick, program chairman.

Mrs. Tony LaNeve, vice president, conducted brief business. A letter of application for post of playground supervisor was read from Miss Susan Logston.

Mrs. LaNeve presented a report on a recent bake sale, and Mrs. Albert Logston reported on activities of the "Help a Child To Health Council."

Mrs. Ward Jackson was named chairman of a committee to purchase a new coffee urn. Mrs. Ronald Eckleberry lead devotions and the club creed was read in unison.

Lunch was served 30 by the hostesses, Mrs. Virgil Grimm, Miss Dorothy Talbott, Mrs. Donald Thornberry and Mrs. Daniel Stockdale. A white cloth covered with red knit and red candles in milk glass, and a red and white floral centerpiece conveyed the "Valentine Day" theme in the appointments.

Next meeting is Feb. 25 with "Guest Night" to be observed. Mrs. McEldowney will be program chairman.

Heathertones Entertain For BPW Club's Dinner

A variety of selections were presented by "The Heathertones," international second - place medalists of Sweet Adelines, Inc., at the dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club Wednesday night at the Travelers Hotel.

Appearing in valentine costumes of red and white, they are Mrs. Lorida Harvey, Mrs. Betty Pettibon, Miss Norma Jones and Mrs. Bette Damaska. Their selections included "Side By Side" and "Wait Till the Sun Shines Nellie", the numbers which won second place at the competition of 39 quartets last fall in Toronto, Canada.

Mrs. Pettibon was mistress of ceremonies. The quartet was introduced by Mrs. Virginia Manypenny.

Miss Frances Jones, chairman of the world affairs committee in charge of the program, screened a color film on the Peace Corps, narrated by Dave Garroway. She was assisted by Mrs. Kathleen Reed and Miss Hazel McShane.

Misses Patty Nolan and Lynn McGaffic, members of the Future Business Women's Club of the high school, outlined activities of the club this past year.

Mrs. Helen Moore, president, conducted business. Reports were heard from Miss Roberta Pennybaker, secretary; Miss Helen Auld, treasurer, and Mrs. Mildred Urie, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, chairman of the civic participation committee, reported on the national essay contest, asking that all entries be turned in by March 1 with the local winner to be announced at the next meeting.

Mrs. Ruthella Kerr announced the second annual College of Arts and Hobbies, sponsored by the Wellsville Women's Civic Club, will begin March 7 for eight consecutive weeks. Interested women may call Mrs. Helen Welch, chairman.

Mrs. Ethel Lynn Wambaugh, state personal development chairman, reported on the conference she directed in Columbus. She was featured in the recent issue of The Ohio Business Woman.

She presented the accepted by-laws and the club voted to have them printed for distribution. She is also taking reservations for the dinner meeting of the Lisbon club March 6 when Mrs. Goldie Smith, district director, will be speaker.

Mrs. Wambaugh read the State Board recommendations as presented at the January meeting in Columbus. She announced the state convention is May 17-19, at Columbus and advance reservations must be made for all meals.

Miss Joan Witt, membership chairman, read the list of approved prospective members and invitations have been mailed. They will be voted on at the next meeting.

Mrs. Gertrude Sixt reported on the meeting of the state nominating committee held last week in Columbus. Mrs. Mary McCullough was elected as a candidate of the club for this committee.

A contribution was allotted for the Columbiana County Mental Health Association's proposed clinic.

Mrs. Moore is taking reservations for the card party and style show of the Youngstown club Feb. 23 in the ballroom of the Mural Building.

The tables were decorated with novelty dish gardens and Lincoln log cabins. Patriotic program booklets and hatchet candy basket favors were made by the third grade of Glenmoor School. Miss Judy Manypenny and Miss Beth Wolfe assisted Mrs. Lillie Belle Leonard with decorations. Mrs. Adeline Mac Burney gave the blessing.

Water Mains Thawed With Welder's Rig

Note to householders struggling with blow torches, electric irons, hot water bottles or other improvised remedies for frozen water lines:

It's no trick at all if you have a commercial welding outfit that can send 480 amperes of current surging through the pipe.

That's how the city water department takes care of frozen mains.

Supt. Donald T. Duke took time out today to explain the city's technique, which it used several times over the weekend to thaw ice that was blocking its lines.

Using a gasoline-powered direct current generator hired from a welder, the linesmen hook the electrodes onto the main — one at either side of the frozen spot.

Then they start up the generator and send a 480-ampere current surging through the metal pipe — an induction process that generates enough heat to thaw the ice.

A short distance from the frozen spot, the crew makes a one-inch tap into the line and hooks on a hose. As the ice thaws, the cold water and shreds of ice pour out through the hose.

Sometimes the frozen pipe is cleared in an hour or two. In stubborn cases, the current streams through the pipe for hours before the stoppage is cleared.

The welding equipment was used to clear ice from a frozen four-inch line on Ray St. Wednesday. Meanwhile, the ice had broken the line, so that necessitated repair.

Duke said the ice was thawed last night, then the leak was detected. The line is being fixed today with a repair sleeve. The work will be finished sometime today, allowing service to be restored for nearby homes.

To provide temporary water service for Ray St. residents, a spigot was hooked onto a fire hydrant. Seven homes were left without water by the frozen line.

Earlier, the city thawed a frozen line on Center St., Beechwood, using the same technique. It had left two homes without water.

Gill Leaves Post With Newspaper Of Pottery Union

Harry L. Gill of Williams Ave. confirmed today that he has left his post as managing editor of The Potters Herald, official weekly newspaper of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

Gill had been editor of the 17,000-circulation trade paper since Jan. 1, 1942, when he succeeded Jerome McKeever. He had been associated with the weekly continually since 1924. At times early in his career, he worked briefly for The Review and the old Morning Tribune.

The newspaper lists E. L. Wheatley, international president, as editor, and Charles F. Jordan, secretary - treasurer, as associate editor.

Gill said he is considering several offers of positions in the printing and publishing field. He has been a journeyman printer and a member of the International Typographical Union for over 40 years.

The newspaper is published in the Brotherhood's own plant in its former headquarters on W. 6th St. It goes through the mail to IBOP members throughout the U. S. and in many parts of Canada.

Omni Boosters Club Ends Member Drive

The membership drive was closed at a meeting of the Omni Boosters Club Wednesday night at the Wellsville High School cafeteria.

Mrs. Jennie Helfrich gave the final report.

A discussion was held on the All-Sports banquet April 11. The club voted to send Kenneth Woods, head football coach, to a football clinic in New York state in June.

Next meeting is Feb. 27. Don Lindesmith, president, presided.

Twenty-three attended a meeting of Cable Rebekah Lodge of Salineville Tuesday night at the IOOF Hall.

Articles were read from the constitution by Mrs. Esther Goddard, vice grand. Mrs. Dorothy McCord and Mrs. Anna Burnip were in charge of games.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Ruth Carter and Mrs. Crete Newhouse. Mrs. Margaret Enright, noble grand, presided.

Next meeting is Feb. 26 with Mrs. Ruth Webb and Mrs. Faye Madison as hostesses. Mrs. Alice Roberts and Mrs. Mable Blazy will be program chairmen.

Paul D'Angelo and daughter, Linda, of Summitville visited here Tuesday.

Bruce Gardner and Victor Gardner, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Del Gardner of Water St., are ill.

Paul, Brian and Susan Kay Jarvis, children of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jarvis of West End, are ill with whooping cough.

State Highway Aide In County Will Be Shifted

LEETONIA — James DeLuce of Salem, Columbiana County superintendent, expected to be notified by the Ohio Department of Highways today that he is being transferred to the Division 11 office at New Philadelphia to work in the Department of Bridges.

Edward Elgin, administrative assistant at New Philadelphia, said the main reason for the shift is that DeLuce, the youngest of seven superintendents in the district, is the most logical choice for the bridge job.

Meanwhile, Gaylord Zellers of Columbiana, general superintendent of the seven counties in Division 11, has taken over DeLuce's post "until further notice." Zellers is former county superintendent.

Elgin said the transfer of DeLuce does not mean a cut in his $4,800 salary.

DeLuce started work in the highway department Feb. 16, 1959, as a labor foreman and was elevated to county superintendent Oct. 1, 1962.

Is the frying kettle ready? Dip parboiled snap beans in a fritter batter and deep-fat fry. Nice and crunchy! This idea is adapted from a Japanese way, but in that cuisine the snap beans are not parboiled. Use whole beans, but before dipping scrub them in cold water and cut off the tips.

3 Take Examination For Wellsville Police

Three took the examination held Wednesday night by the Wellsville Civil Service Commission to provide an eligiblity list for city patrolmen.

Four are scheduled to take an exam tonight at 7:30 at City Hall to provide a list for city firemen.

There are no vacncies in either department.

John H. Grafton, clerk, said the exams probably will be graded Saturday. The lists of those receiving passing grades will be certified to Mayor William Daugherty no later than Monday morning.

Potters Go To Martins Ferry, Face East In Final Home Tilt

The Review Sports

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1963 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW PAGE 14

Riders Put 9-7 Record Against EL

Two teams that have had their share of thrills and overtime contests this season hook up Friday night when East Liverpool invades Martins Ferry.

The Martins Ferry gym, also tabbed "the house of thrills," is the home of overtime records. In a game with St. Clairsville this season, Martins Ferry was involved in nine overtime periods, which has been recognized as a state record and a possible national mark.

COACH George Milby is experiencing quite a first year at Martins Ferry. On top of the nine extra sessions, the Purple Riders have been involved in five other overtimes, with two of the five, double overtime affairs.

Ferry's overtime record is five wins and one loss. Steubenville Big Red won a double overtime victory, 75-71, and the defeat was the only one suffered by the Riders on their home court this season.

Martins Ferry will enter Friday's contest with a 9-7 mark.

EAST LIVERPOOL has been involved in two extra periods this season, one at Midland and the other with ninth ranked Warren, along with a host of close contests.

Martins Ferry will floor a small team, about the same size as the Potters.

The leading scorer for the Riders is captain Tony Bumbico, a 5-9 guard who is scoring at a 19.6 average. Next in the scoring column is Mike Lucas, a 5-10 junior, and Bob DeStefano, 6-foot junior, who are both averaging in the double figures.

ROUNDING out the first five are Gene Joseph, 6-1 senior center, and Harry Worley, a 5-11 senior.

The Potters lost to Martins Ferry at the MA last season, 77-68.

Saturday's opponent — Youngstown East — has been an unpredictable bunch. Opening the season, East won seven straight games but in the last nine contests has only claimed two victories.

—:—

COACH Lou Rivello's team is big. The Youngstown five will be led here by Ted Lolakis, a 6-5 cager who is the team's leading scorer and is a three-year regular.

Ted Boggs, at 6-3, has been a steady rebounder for East. The lineup also lists Paul Dunlap at 5-11, Ray Mason 5-10 and Paul Severino 5-8.

Among East's victories are a 55-48 decision over Niles and a 43-42 win over Alliance. East was beaten Tuesday by Salem, 71-54.

East meets Woodrow Wilson Friday night before coming here Saturday.

Wittenberg Holds First

By The Associated Press

Wittenberg of Ohio continued to hold the No. 1 position in the Associated Press small college basketball poll today after scoring victories over Akron and Capital last week to lift its record to 16-1.

Wittenberg collected five first place votes and 71 points in the balloting by the panel of eight regional board members. Grambling of Louisiana, which trounced Prairie View 111-59 to avenge an earlier setback, moved up two notches to second place.

The loss dropped Prairie View, sixth a week ago, out of the first 10.

The top 10, based on 10 points for first, 9 for second, 8 for third etc. with first place and won-lost records through games of Saturday, Feb. 9.

Lowly Knicks Drop No. 44

By The Associated Press

The New York Knicks seem to be setting new marks for futility in the National Basketball Association this season.

As Eastern Division tail-enders, the Knicks have managed to win only 16 of 60 games so far. Loss No. 44 came Wednesday night the hard way—the Knicks had a three point lead and the ball in their possession with 15 seconds to go, and blew it to the St. Louis Hawks 103-102.

Up at the other end of the standings, the Los Angeles Lakers, leaders in the West, rallied for a 134-128 victory over the Boston Celtics, Eastern pacesetters. The Cincinnati Royals beat the Syracuse Nats 124-122 at Indianapolis and the Detroit Pistons nipped the San Francisco Warriors 134-132 in overtime in other NBA games.

Cliff Hagan netted the Hawks' last four points at New York, hitting the winner, on a jump shot with one second to go as St. Louis overhauled the Knicks.

Akron Course Is Site Of Golf World Series

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Akron's Firestone Country Club again will be the site of the World Series of Golf this year, television producer Walter Schwimmer of Chicago announced today.

Schwimmer conceived the idea mainly for television last year and came up with a natural—a head-to-head match among the big three of golf. Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player.

Nicklaus, who qualified for the 36-hole competition by winning the U.S. Open in a playoff with Palmer, won the $50,000 first prize with a 5-under-par 135 total for the two rounds. Palmer, British Open and Masters champion, and Player, the U.S. PGA king, tied for second with 139, and each won $12,500.

Schwimmer indicated much the same formula for determining the qualifiers would be followed this year, although he added he was working on an undisclosed "interesting arrangement" to assure a four-man field. For last year's inaugural, the plan was to match the winners of the world's four major championships — the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Masters. Palmer trimmed the field to three by winning two of the titles.

This year's exhibition will be played at the 7,165-yard, par 70, Firestone course on Sept. 7-8, Schwimmer said. The National Broadcasting Co. will carry live a 90-minute telecast of the last six holes played each day.

49ers' Bill Kilmer To Miss '63 Season

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco 49er halfback Bill Kilmer, who broke his right leg in an auto accident last fall, apparently will miss the 1963 National Football League season.

"I guess it would be pretty tough to get back this year," he admitted from a hospital bed where he has lain flat on his back for three months.

Kilmer was in his sophomore year with the 49ers when the accident occurred. His car plunged off a freeway south of here.

Panthers Even Score With Mounties, 69-68

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pitt's Panthers may have won bigger games or scored victories that were more satisfying. But not this season. That's for sure.

Two weeks ago at Pitt, the Panthers lost a heart-breaking one-point decision to West Virginia, 68-67, when a potential winning field goal with one second left was not allowed.

The Panthers, unranked nationally but one of the country's better independents, made up for that one with a 69-68 triumph at West Virginia Wednesday night.

Paul Krieger dropped in two free throws with 12 seconds left to provide the tying and winning points as the Panthers advanced their record to 15-4 for the season.

Duke and Georgia Tech protected their positions in the top ten rankings, but each had trouble doing it. Third-ranked Duke won its 12th in a row in a 79-74 edge over Virginia at Charlottesville and 10th ranked Georgia Tech broke out of a two-game losing slump at the expense of Vanderbilt, 69-62.

In some of the other major games Tennessee State upset St. Bonaventure 86-85; Notre Dame crushed Gannon 82-47; South Carolina whipped Furman 67-56; Navy blasted Rutgers 92-60; Villanova routed St. John's 52-32; Dayton edged Duquesne 58-57; and Davidson beat Richmond 72-57.

Roberts Inks Oriole Pact For $30,000

By The Associated Press

Is 35 the age for a new lease on baseball life?

It was for Robin Roberts. It may be for Luis Arroyo.

Robin, a 244-game major league winner, sent his signed contract to the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday. He will get an estimated $30,000, about the same as last year, for his 16th season.

Roberts swept to comeback honors at the age of 35 after the New York Yankees released him without letting him throw a pitch in a regular game. Picked up by the Orioles in late May, he wound up with a 10-9 mark and the league's second best ERA. He won eight games by one or two runs, and lost five by similar margins.

Arroyo, a sore-shoulder flop for the Yanks last season after a superb 1961 season, showed up at the Yankee advance camp in Fort Lauderdale Wednesday and threw hard for five minutes—the time limit at this early stage.

"My arm is in shape," Arroyo said. "I still have a little feeling in my shoulder but nothing like last year."

The left-handed relief ace turned 35 this season.

Another pitcher, Ryne Duren of the Los Angeles Angels, pitched in from Palm Springs, Calif., with his signed contract—for an estimated $18,000—and praise for the new high strike zone.

There was one trade, the Houston Colts sending reliever Bob Tiefenauer to the St. Louis Cardinals for left-handed Don Ferrarese.

Colt Baseball League Sign Up Is Underway

It's only February but Colt League officials are accepting applications to tryout for the League this summer.

Any boy in the East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester, Newell or Beaver Local areas is eligible if his birthday was between Aug. 1, 1946 and Aug. 1, 1948.

Those candidates wishing to sign up should send on a piece of paper the following information: name, address and date of birth.

Those who played in the Colt League or Pony League last year do not have to sign up.

March 1 will be the deadline for registering.

The League has expanded to six teams this year, an increase of one.

All applications should be sent to The East Liverpool Colt League, 130, E. 6th St.

Tucson Open Is Underway

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The outcome of the 1963 Tucson Open Golf Tournament which begins today on the 49er Country Club course may well depend on whether it gives Jack Nicklaus a pain.

Nicklaus, the only 1963 tourney winner in the field, was sidelined from the Pro-Am preliminary Wednesday because of bursitis in his left hip. But some medical treatment and the clearing weather were expected to ease the pain enough for the pre-tourney favorite to tee off along with some 200 other pros and 10 amateurs.

Nicklaus, reigning U.S. Open champion, placed third in the Phoenix Open behind Arnold Palmer and Gary Player Tuesday. Palmer, who also won the Los Angeles tournament, and Player, who took the San Diego Open, are not playing in the Tucson event. Nicklaus won the Palm Springs Open two weeks ago, beating Player in a playoff.

Potters Go To Martins Ferry, Face East In Final Home Tilt

Riders Put 9-7 Record Against EL

Two teams that have had their share of thrills and overtime contests this season hook up Friday night when East Liverpool invades Martins Ferry.

The Martins Ferry gym, also tabbed "the house of thrills," is the home of overtime records. In a game with St. Clairsville this season, Martins Ferry was involved in nine overtime periods, which has been recognized as a state record and a possible national mark.

COACH George Milby is experiencing quite a first year at Martins Ferry. On top of the nine extra sessions, the Purple Riders have been involved in five other overtimes, with two of the five, double overtime affairs.

Ferry's overtime record is five wins and one loss. Steubenville Big Red won a double overtime victory, 75-71, and the defeat was the only one suffered by the Riders on their home court this season.

Martins Ferry will enter Friday's contest with a 9-7 mark.

—:—

EAST LIVERPOOL has been involved in two extra periods this season, one at Midland and the other with ninth ranked Warren, along with a host of close contests.

Martins Ferry will floor a small team, about the same size as the Potters.

The leading scorer for the Riders is captain Tony Bumbico, a 5-9 guard who is scoring at a 19.6 average. Next in the scoring column is Mike Lucas, a 5-10 junior, and Bob DeStefano, 6-foot junior, who are both averaging in the double figures.

ROUNDING out the first five are Gene Joseph, 6-1 senior center, and Harry Worley, a 5-11 senior.

The Potters lost to Martins Ferry at the MA last season, 77-68.

Saturday's opponent — Youngstown East — has been an unpredictable bunch. Opening the season, East won seven straight games but in the last nine contests has only claimed two victories.

—:—

COACH Lou Rivello's team is big. The Youngstown five will be led here by Ted Lolakis, a 6-5 cager who is the team's leading scorer and is a three-year regular.

Ted Boggs, at 6-3, has been a steady rebounder for East. The lineup also lists Paul Dunlap at 5-11, Ray Mason 5-10 and Paul Severino 5-8.

Among East's victories are a 55-48 decision over Niles and a 43-42 win over Alliance. East was beaten Tuesday by Salem, 71-54.

East meets Woodrow Wilson Friday night before coming here Saturday.

Wittenberg Holds First

By The Associated Press

Wittenberg of Ohio continued to hold the No. 1 position in the Associated Press small college basketball poll today after scoring victories over Akron and Capital last week to lift its record to 16-1.

Wittenberg collected five first place votes and 71 points in the balloting by the panel of eight regional board members. Grambling of Louisiana, which trounced Prairie View 111-59 to avenge an earlier setback, moved up two notches to second place.

The loss dropped Prairie View, sixth a week ago, out of the first 10.

The top 10, based on 10 points for first, 9 for second, 8 for third etc. with first place and won-lost records through games of Saturday, Feb. 9.

Lowly Knicks Drop No. 44

By The Associated Press

The New York Knicks seem to be setting new marks for futility in the National Basketball Association this season.

As Eastern Division tail-enders, the Knicks have managed to win only 16 of 60 games so far. Loss No. 44 came Wednesday night the hard way—the Knicks had a three point lead and the ball in their possession with 15 seconds to go, and blew it to the St. Louis Hawks 103-102.

Up at the other end of the standings, the Los Angeles Lakers, leaders in the West, rallied for a 134-128 victory over the Boston Celtics, Eastern pacesetters. The Cincinnati Royals beat the Syracuse Nats 124-122 at Indianapolis and the Detroit Pistons nipped the San Francisco Warriors 134-132 in overtime in other NBA games.

Cliff Hagan netted the Hawks' last four points at New York, hitting the winner, on a jump shot with one second to go as St. Louis overhauled the Knicks.

Akron Course Is Site Of Golf World Series

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Akron's Firestone Country Club again will be the site of the World Series of Golf this year, television producer Walter Schwimmer of Chicago announced today.

Schwimmer conceived the idea mainly for television last year and came up with a natural—a head-to-head match among the big three of golf. Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player.

Nicklaus, who qualified for the 36-hole competition by winning the U.S. Open in a playoff with Palmer, won the $50,000 first prize with a 5-under-par 135 total for the two rounds. Palmer, British Open and Masters champion, and Player, the U.S. PGA king, tied for second with 139, and each won $12,500.

Schwimmer indicated much the same formula for determining the qualifiers would be followed this year, although he added he was working on an undisclosed "interesting arrangement" to assure a four-man field. For last year's inaugural, the plan was to match the winners of the world's four major championships — the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Masters. Palmer trimmed the field to three by winning two of the titles.

This year's exhibition will be played at the 7,165-yard, par 70, Firestone course on Sept. 7-8, Schwimmer said. The National Broadcasting Co. will carry live a 90-minute telecast of the last six holes played each day.

49ers' Bill Kilmer To Miss '63 Season

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco 49er halfback Bill Kilmer, who broke his right leg in an auto accident last fall, apparently will miss the 1963 National Football League season.

"I guess it would be pretty tough to get back this year," he admitted from a hospital bed where he has lain flat on his back for three months.

Kilmer was in his sophomore year with the 49ers when the accident occurred. His car plunged off a freeway south of here.

Hutch Sees Tight NL Battle, Reds In Thick Of It

By FRED HUTCHINSON
Cincinnati Reds

BRADENTON BEACH, Fla. (AP)—I look for another dog-eat-dog pennant race in the National League this year.

I have to feel that the Cincinnati Reds again will be in the thick of the race. I realize that several clubs have helped themselves by trades during the winter but so have we and at this point I am not conceding a thing to any of them.

I like our pitching. I think it will be stronger although our starters will be much the same. The improvement will be mostly in our secondary and short relief.

Bob Purkey, Joey Jay and Jim O'Toole, who won 60 games among them last year, again will represent the big three. Jay and O'Toole are still young. Purkey is 33, but the way he pitches he could still be winning five years from now.

I expect Jim Maloney to make it a big four. Jim won nine games for us although he wasn't recalled from the minors until midseason. He showed a lot of maturity toward the end. He wasn't just throwing; he was pitching.

We'll also have the service of Joe Nuxhall for the full 1963 season. Joe was 5-0 for us after we repurchased him from San Diego. There is also the chance that Ken Hunt will bounce back. The young right-hander, you may remember, was a sensation during the first half of the 1961 season but showed he needed a little more minor league experience last year.

We've got a fine crop of young pitchers coming up that I'm anxious to look at. Especially Sammy Ellis, the youngster who was so impressive with us last spring. Ellis had a 12-2 record, including a no-hitter, at San Diego last summer and all our scouts say he's ready.

We have a set team except for one or two positions. I know what to expect from fellows like Gordy Coleman, Don Blasingame, Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson, who is just about the outstanding player in the National League. I look for continued improvement from Leo Cardenas at shortstop and John Edwards behind the plate.

I think the catching, with the addition of Jesse Gonder, who was voted the Pacific Coast League's most valuable player, will be stronger. I am in the hopes that Gene Freese will be fully recovered from his ankle fracture and that Tommy Harper will be ready for either infield or outfield duty.

Freese was definitely our major problem last year. His injury was a loss in every respect. Our short relief was not up to its 1961 performance. We hope both will be remedied this year.

We traded Rogelio Alvarez, a young first baseman, to Washington for Harry Bright, who we think will help our bench. Harry is a fine pinch hitter, can play first and fill in at other positions, if necessary. We also traded Cookie Rojas, an infielder, to Philadelphia for pitcher Jim Owens. Jim could be a fine pitcher. His future is up to him. I hope he realizes this and decides to do something about it.

Dates, Sites Set For NCAA Cage Tourney

NEW YORK (AP)—Dates and sites for regional competition for the National Collegiate basketball championships were announced today through the NCAA Service Bureau.

In an Eastern first round triple-header at the Palestra in Philadelphia Monday, March 11, the Southern Conference champion meets the Yankee Conference titleholder, the Mid-Atlantic Conference winner faces an at-large team and the third game pairs two at-large teams.

The winners of the first two games will meet in the Eastern Regional at College Park, Md., March 15 while the at-large winner will take on the Atlantic Coast Conference champ. The Eastern title game will be on March 16.

In the Mid-East Regional at Evanston, Ill., March 11, the Mid-American Conference champion and the Ohio Valley Conference leader each will meet an at-large team.

The winner of the Mid-American vs. at-large game will face the Big Ten titleholder and the Ohio Valley vs. at-large winner takes on the Southeastern Conference champ at East Lansing, Mich., March 15. The two winners will meet the next night.

Two at-large games at sites yet to be determined will set the stage for the Midwest Regionals at Lawrence, Kan., and another pair of first round games will lead to the Far West Regionals at Provo, Utah, March 15-16.

The four regional champions pair off at Louisville March 23

Beavers will be legal quarry again Feb. 15 through Feb. 28. Beavers may be taken by trapping only.

They may not be trapped, however, on state - owned lands since they are beneficial to wildlife.

All beaver pelts must be sealed by the game protector in the county in which they are taken. No person may possess more than two beaver pelts at any time and such pelts must be sealed no later than March 15.

I WILL BE at the County Jail from 5 to 6 p. m. on Feb. 23 and March 2 for the particular purpose of sealing beaver pelts.

This will give each trapper the opportunity to have his pelts sealed without having to run me down to get it done. I never know from day to day just where I will be and neither will I burn gas running all over the county sealing beaver pelts, since my mileage is limited.

Be sure you skin the beaver properly or you will cut down the value of the pelt. Only one cut should be made before skinning a beaver. Begin at the base of the tail and go right up to the tip of the nose, then begin peeling the pelt right off the carcass.

After this has been done, start stretching the pelt by placing a small finishing nail through the nose. From this point stretch the hide as round as possible by tacking the hide every two inches or less on a flat surface inside out. This can be on the side of a barn or a wide board. Then remove all flesh and fat possible. This is most important.

If you are not sure about skinning a beaver, some fur buyers will buy the pelt and do their own skinning...not all of them. It's a big job.

COLUMBIANA County leads in the number of beavers having been trapped. I am sure there are as many if not more beavers in this county now than before there was an open season on them.

From two to eight young are born in the same litter. With a high production rate, they can withstand a trapping season each year.

The weather is a big factor in beaver trapping. At present writing all ponds and most of the streams are frozen solid, making beaver trapping difficult, and not all trappers are able to take a beaver.

Approximately 15,000 acres of land have been laid waste in Columbiana County by strip mining operations since 1917.

With bigger and better mining equipment, more land will be laid waste at a faster pace. Someone good at figures find out how much taxes are paid on 15,000 acres of land on the tax duplicate at $4 per acre.

Yank Relief Ace Bridges Shot In Leg By Woman

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Marshall (Sheriff) Bridges, ace relief pitcher of the New York Yankees, was listed in fair condition at Broward General Hospital today as police questioned a woman they said shot him in the left leg after "some sort of argument."

Police said the wound was not serious, but Yankee officials said Bridges could be sidelined for two months.

The shooting occurred shortly after 10 p.m. Wednesday night, at a Negro club known as the Pride of Fort Lauderdale Elks Lodge.

Police booked a woman identified as Carrie Lee Raysor on a charge of aggravated assault in connection with the shooting.

A patron at the club, Erskine Hepburn, said he drove Bridges to the hospital after the shooting.

He was sitting next to Bridges and Miss Raysor when the shooting occurred, he said.

"I heard a shot, looked around and saw Bridges fall to the floor," Hepburn said. "I helped him to my car and drove him to the hospital. All the way to the hospital he kept telling me to call the hotel and get in touch with Yankee Manager Ralph Houk."

Bridges was under sedation at the hospital and could not give his version of the incident immediately.

Yankee officials said he was shot in the leg below the knee with a small caliber weapon.

Only hours before the shooting, Houk said at the Yankee advance training camp here that Bridges was counted on for full time bullpen duty. Pitching depth is the Yankee weak spot.

Harlem Astronauts Play At Beaver Local Feb. 21

Final plans for a Beaver Local Athletic Association benefit basketball game featuring the "Harlem Astronauts" and an area faculty team Feb. 21 have been made by the Association.

The game will be held at the Beaver Local High School gym and will include a local team composed of Frank Chan, Jim Harris and Jim Potts of East Liverpool; Tom McCall, Flody Suarez, John Pape, Jack O'Rourke, Lloyd Stockdale, Frank Wilson and Calvin Graber of Beaver Local; Lynn Batcha and Paul Frank of Leetonia; Jack McDevitt, Chuck McMillan and Bevo Francis of Wellsville and Gary Pike of Lisbon.

The New York Harlem Astronauts, who play anything from college all-star groups to faculty teams, are currently unbeaten.

The lineup is featured by Billy Barnes, 6-7, a former Little All-American from Florida A & M; Henry Marshall, a standout at North Carolina A. & T. who recently tried out with the New York "Knicks" of the NBA; jumping Jim Stanley, who was leading scorer for the Harlem Satellites, the past two seasons; Herb Gray, 6-7, traveled with the Harlem "Diplomats" last season and was top scorer and Emerson Baynard, 6-5 flash from John Hancock College in California, who was an all-Pennsylvania selection at Chester (Pa.) High School.

The "Flying Astronauts" will perform in a pre-game show in complete darkness.

Tickets are at $1 for adults and 75 cents for students are on sale at Heimies' in East Liverpool and Morgan Drugs in Lisbon.

The Association also set a budget of $408 for baseball and $39 for track in spring sports. The football and basketball budgets will be set at the next meeting Feb. 26.

Discussion was held on a reserve football team project.

Hutch Sees Tight NL Battle, Reds In Thick Of It

By FRED HUTCHINSON
Cincinnati Reds

BRADENTON BEACH, Fla. (AP)—I look for another dog-eat-dog pennant race in the National League this year.

I have to feel that the Cincinnati Reds again will be in the thick of the race. I realize that several clubs have helped themselves by trades during the winter but so have we and at this point I am not conceding a thing to any of them.

I like our pitching. I think it will be stronger although our starters will be much the same. The improvement will be mostly in our secondary and short relief.

Bob Purkey, Joey Jay and Jim O'Toole, who won 60 games among them last year, again will represent the big three. Jay and O'Toole are still young. Purkey is 33, but the way he pitches he could still be winning five years from now.

I expect Jim Maloney to make it a big four. Jim won nine games for us although he wasn't recalled from the minors until midseason. He showed a lot of maturity toward the end. He wasn't just throwing; he was pitching.

We'll also have the service of Joe Nuxhall for the full 1963 season. Joe was 5-0 for us after we repurchased him from San Diego. There is also the chance that Ken Hunt will bounce back. The young right-hander, you may remember, was a sensation during the first half of the 1961 season but showed he needed a little more minor league experience last year.

We've got a fine crop of young pitchers coming up that I'm anxious to look at. Especially Sammy Ellis, the youngster who was so impressive with us last spring. Ellis had a 12-2 record, including a no-hitter, at San Diego last summer and all our scouts say he's ready.

We have a set team except for one or two positions. I know what to expect from fellows like Gordy Coleman, Don Blasingame, Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson, who is just about the outstanding player in the National League. I look for continued improvement from Leo Cardenas at shortstop and John Edwards behind the plate.

I think the catching, with the addition of Jesse Gonder, who was voted the Pacific Coast League's most valuable player, will be stronger. I am in the hopes that Gene Freese will be fully recovered from his ankle fracture and that Tommy Harper will be ready for either infield or outfield duty.

Freese was definitely our major problem last year. His injury was a loss in every respect. Our short relief was not up to its 1961 performance. We hope both will be remedied this year.

We traded Rogelio Alvarez, a young first baseman, to Washington for Harry Bright, who we think will help our bench. Harry is a fine pinch hitter, can play first and fill in at other positions, if necessary. We also traded Cookie Rojas, an infielder, to Philadelphia for pitcher Jim Owens. Jim could be a fine pitcher. His future is up to him. I hope he realizes this and decides to do something about it.

Dates, Sites Set For NCAA Cage Tourney

NEW YORK (AP)—Dates and sites for regional competition for the National Collegiate basketball championships were announced today through the NCAA Service Bureau.

In an Eastern first round triple-header at the Palestra in Philadelphia Monday, March 11, the Southern Conference champion meets the Yankee Conference titleholder, the Mid-Atlantic Conference winner faces an at-large team and the third game pairs two at-large teams.

The winners of the first two games will meet in the Eastern Regional at College Park, Md., March 15 while the at-large winner will take on the Atlantic Coast Conference champ. The Eastern title game will be on March 16.

In the Mid-East Regional at Evanston, Ill., March 11, the Mid-American Conference champion and the Ohio Valley Conference leader each will meet an at-large team.

The winner of the Mid-American vs. at-large game will face the Big Ten titleholder and the Ohio Valley vs. at-large winner takes on the Southeastern Conference champ at East Lansing, Mich., March 15. The two winners will meet the next night.

Two at-large games at sites yet to be determined will set the stage for the Midwest Regionals at Lawrence, Kan., and another pair of first round games will lead to the Far West Regionals at Provo, Utah, March 15-16.

The four regional champions pair off at Louisville March 23

Beavers will be legal quarry again Feb. 15 through Feb. 28. Beavers may be taken by trapping only.

They may not be trapped, however, on state - owned lands since they are beneficial to wildlife.

All beaver pelts must be sealed by the game protector in the county in which they are taken. No person may possess more than two beaver pelts at any time and such pelts must be sealed no later than March 15.

I WILL BE at the County Jail from 5 to 6 p. m. on Feb. 23 and March 2 for the particular purpose of sealing beaver pelts.

This will give each trapper the opportunity to have his pelts sealed without having to run me down to get it done. I never know from day to day just where I will be and neither will I burn gas running all over the county sealing beaver pelts, since my mileage is limited.

Be sure you skin the beaver properly or you will cut down the value of the pelt. Only one cut should be made before skinning a beaver. Begin at the base of the tail and go right up to the tip of the nose, then begin peeling the pelt right off the carcass.

After this has been done, start stretching the pelt by placing a small finishing nail through the nose. From this point stretch the hide as round as possible by tacking the hide every two inches or less on a flat surface inside out. This can be on the side of a barn or a wide board. Then remove all flesh and fat possible. This is most important.

If you are not sure about skinning a beaver, some fur buyers will buy the pelt and do their own skinning...not all of them. It's a big job.

COLUMBIANA County leads in the number of beavers having been trapped. I am sure there are as many if not more beavers in this county now than before there was an open season on them.

From two to eight young are born in the same litter. With a high production rate, they can withstand a trapping season each year.

The weather is a big factor in beaver trapping. At present writing all ponds and most of the streams are frozen solid, making beaver trapping difficult, and not all trappers are able to take a beaver.

Approximately 15,000 acres of land have been laid waste in Columbiana County by strip mining operations since 1917.

With bigger and better mining equipment, more land will be laid waste at a faster pace. Someone good at figures find out how much taxes are paid on 15,000 acres of land on the tax duplicate at $4 per acre.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

New Dress Serves As Slimming Incentive

February 14th, when Cupid is King for a Day, is an ideal time to pass along a heart - warming story. A husband, proud of his wife's slimming progress, found just the incentive needed to bolster her morale when she stopped losing. The wife reports:

Ida Jean Kain

"To help some other homemaker I'm passing along my progress report. I went on a protective diet and lost quite steadily — 32 pound in all. But after that I was hopelessly stalled.

"It is tough to keep trying when the pounds simply will not budge. Naturally my eagerness for dieting dwindled to mere pretense. Of course you can guess what happened — the hard lost pounds started to creep back on!

—:—

"MY HUSBAND couldn't help but notice that my appetite was increasing. He didn't mention the diet, but instead quietly suggested that it was time for me to have a lovely new dress. Well, a mother of three growing girls doesn't have a chance to buy clothes for herself often, and a really good new dress is an event.

"Imagine my joy and excitement when I discovered I needed a dress two whole sizes smaller than the size I had worn for years! My enthusiasm for diet and exercise came back that very day.

"The good news is that I have started losing again and intend to continue until I can wear my perfect size which is a 14. I know I can do it and I now have just 14 pounds to go.

"Incidently, when our friends comment on my lost weight and compliment me on my new figure, my husband looks at me so proudly..."

Wonderful! There is an understanding helpmate. Of course it was something far deeper than pride that prompted the husband's timely gift of a new dress.

He knew it had not been easy for his wife to take off those 32 pounds and restrict herself to small servings of the good food she cooked for the family. It's always more difficult for the homemaker, for she is around food so much of the time—shopping for food, planning meals and preparing food.

He sensed how defeated she would feel if the pounds came back on. It was love — the most powerful force in the world — that prompted him to suggest that his wife shop for a new dress.

After a weight loss of 20 or 30 pounds, shopping for a new dress is always a good idea. There is nothing like seeing yourself in a dress a size or two smaller to buck up your spirits and give you the zip needed to finish the job. Suddenly you know you can do it!

THE HEROINE in today's story almost has it made, thanks to her husband's help. More important, she will be able to hold the weight line, for there will be no nagging resentment in her mind to send her back to overeating.

Send a stamped, self - addressed long envelope for "Perfect Dress Size Chart and Hunger Control Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

277 BUC Employes Worked On Holiday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Administrator Donald B. Leach of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reports 277 BUC employes worked Lincoln's Birthday although he told them to take the day off.

Leach exempted the BUC from Gov. James A. Rhodes' call for volunteer work by state employes on the holiday. He says he's publicizing the fact that about one-quarter of his central office staff showed up anyway because a lot of husbands and wives wondered what was what. They'd seen their spouses off for work, then seen newspaper pictures of an empty BUC office.

Jaycees Plan Drive On Telephone Service

MASON, Ohio (AP)—The Mason Junior Chamber of Commerce is planning to start a campaign for improvement of telephone service in Warren County.

Peter Jacobs, president of the JayCees, said one reason for the drive is that long distance calls from the area often go to the wrong cities.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

New Dress Serves As Slimming Incentive

Ida Jean Kain

February 14th, when Cupid is King for a Day, is an ideal time to pass along a heart - warming story. A husband, proud of his wife's slimming progress, found just the incentive needed to bolster her morale when she stopped losing. The wife reports:

"To help some other homemaker I'm passing along my progress report. I went on a protective diet and lost quite steadily — 32 pound in all. But after that I was hopelessly stalled.

"It is tough to keep trying when the pounds simply will not budge. Naturally my eagerness for dieting dwindled to mere pretense. Of course you can guess what happened — the hard lost pounds started to creep back on!

—:—

"MY HUSBAND couldn't help but notice that my appetite was increasing. He didn't mention the diet, but instead quietly suggested that it was time for me to have a lovely new dress. Well, a mother of three growing girls doesn't have a chance to buy clothes for herself often, and a really good new dress is an event.

"Imagine my joy and excitement when I discovered I needed a dress two whole sizes smaller than the size I had worn for years! My enthusiasm for diet and exercise came back that very day.

"The good news is that I have started losing again and intend to continue until I can wear my perfect size which is a 14. I know I can do it and I now have just 14 pounds to go.

"Incidently, when our friends comment on my lost weight and compliment me on my new figure, my husband looks at me so proudly..."

Wonderful! There is an understanding helpmate. Of course it was something far deeper than pride that prompted the husband's timely gift of a new dress.

He knew it had not been easy for his wife to take off those 32 pounds and restrict herself to small servings of the good food she cooked for the family. It's always more difficult for the homemaker, for she is around food so much of the time—shopping for food, planning meals and preparing food.

He sensed how defeated she would feel if the pounds came back on. It was love — the most powerful force in the world — that prompted him to suggest that his wife shop for a new dress.

After a weight loss of 20 or 30 pounds, shopping for a new dress is always a good idea. There is nothing like seeing yourself in a dress a size or two smaller to buck up your spirits and give you the zip needed to finish the job. Suddenly you know you can do it!

THE HEROINE in today's story almost has it made, thanks to her husband's help. More important, she will be able to hold the weight line, for there will be no nagging resentment in her mind to send her back to overeating.

Send a stamped, self - addressed long envelope for "Perfect Dress Size Chart and Hunger Control Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

277 BUC Employes Worked On Holiday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Administrator Donald B. Leach of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reports 277 BUC employes worked Lincoln's Birthday although he told them to take the day off.

Leach exempted the BUC from Gov. James A. Rhodes' call for volunteer work by state employes on the holiday. He says he's publicizing the fact that about one-quarter of his central office staff showed up anyway because a lot of husbands and wives wondered

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN memory of Jeffrey Taylor. It's now 2 years Jeff since you went away and past 19 you'd be today We still miss you so more every day, Without you for us life will never be the same. They say time heals but How much time before it even begins to heal? Sadly missed by parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Taylor, Brother Jim, Sister Janice, Grandma Echols.

In loving memory of George A. Rowley Sr. who left us Feb. 16, 1948. Fifteen years ago today, our loved one left this earth, And we can only hope and pray, that God could tell his worth. Without sin? no, that can't be said, but this one thing is true, He never shirked his duty God, to teach us about you. (Daughter Frances) Sadly missed by his wife Ethel Rowley, his sons and daughters and all who loved him.

Junior Editors Quiz on ENGINES

QUESTION: What is the difference between a two-cycle and four-cycle engine?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: A "cycle," in a gas engine, is composed of the number of "strokes," or up and down movements of the cylinder and connecting rod made between one explosion and the next. People speak of a "four-cycle engine" but they really mean an engine which has four piston strokes to each complete cycle. Look at (1). Here on the "intake" stroke, as piston is going down, mixed air and gasoline is drawn in from upper left. In (2), the "compression" stroke, fuel gases are being squeezed together, making them easier to ignite. In (3), the spark plug has fired the fuel and the exploding gases push the piston down in the "power" stroke. In (4), the piston comes up, expelling the burned gases in the "exhaust" stroke. Looking at one of several types of two-stroke cycle engines (5) we see the piston's upstroke is combining two steps, pushing up and compressing the fuel while exhaust gases are being pushed out, at the same time. In (6), the power stroke pushes piston down, bringing fuel in from right and compressing it in the crankcase. A four-stroke cycle is good for larger engines. The two-stroke jobs have few moving parts and are often used for small engines.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: If you have a miniature gas engine, examine it carefully to check on the two-stroke cycle. If you haven't one, find a friend who has and ask him to explain the way it works.

★ ★ ★

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Feb. 14, the 45th day of 1963. There are 320 days left in the year. Today is St. Valentine's Day.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1778, the flag of the United States was first saluted by a foreign nation when Capt. John Paul Jones sailed the Ranger into Quiberon Bay, France.

On this day:

In 1764, the original builders of St. Louis, Mo., known at the foot First Thirty," arrived at the foot of what is now Walnut Street.

In 1859, Oregon was admitted to the Union as the 33rd state.

In 1913, President William Howard Taft vetoed the immigration bill because he thought the requirement for a literacy test was objectionable.

In 1946, W. Averell Harriman resigned as U. S. ambassador to the Soviet Union.

Today's birthday:

Comedian Jack Benny is 69.

Thought for today:

We may give advice, but we can never prompt behavior — Rochefoucald.

Junior Editors Quiz on ENGINES

QUESTION: What is the difference between a two-cycle and four-cycle engine?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: A "cycle," in a gas engine, is composed of the number of "strokes," or up and down movements of the cylinder and connecting rod made between one explosion and the next. People speak of a "four-cycle engine" but they really mean an engine which has four piston strokes to each complete cycle. Look at (1). Here on the "intake" stroke, as piston is going down, mixed air and gasoline is drawn in from upper left. In (2), the "compression" stroke, fuel gases are being squeezed together, making them easier to ignite. In (3), the spark plug has fired the fuel and the exploding gases push the piston down in the "power" stroke. In (4), the piston comes up, expelling the burned gases in the "exhaust" stroke. Looking at one of several types of two-stroke cycle engines (5) we see the piston's upstroke is combining two steps, pushing up and compressing the fuel while exhaust gases are being pushed out, at the same time. In (6), the power stroke pushes piston down, bringing fuel in from right and compressing it in the crankcase. A four-stroke cycle is good for larger engines. The two-stroke jobs have few moving parts and are often used for small engines.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: If you have a miniature gas engine, examine it carefully to check on the two-stroke cycle. If you haven't one, find a friend who has and ask him to explain the way it works.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Feb. 14, the 45th day of 1963. There are 320 days left in the year. Today is St. Valentine's Day.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1778, the flag of the United States was first saluted by a foreign nation when Capt. John Paul Jones sailed the Ranger into Quiberon Bay, France.

On this day:

In 1764, the original builders of St. Louis, Mo., known at the foot First Thirty," arrived at the foot of what is now Walnut Street.

In 1859, Oregon was admitted to the Union as the 33rd state.

In 1913, President William Howard Taft vetoed the immigration bill because he thought the requirement for a literacy test was objectionable.

In 1936, police at Caracas, Venezuela, killed five persons in riots touched off by a decree establishing a press censorship.

In 1946, W. Averell Harriman resigned as U. S. ambassador to the Soviet Union.

Today's birthday:

Comedian Jack Benny is 69.

Thought for today:

We may give advice, but we can never prompt behavior — Rochefoucald.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: A woman who wrote to you wanted to know why blondes have a reputation for being sexier than other women. I can tell her why. Because they ARE sexier. A blonde will attract more attention from men and I have proved it.

I am a beautician, 41 years old. Ten years ago I decided to make a personal survey. I dyed my hair every color on the chart — from midnight blue - black to silver blonde. I got lots of whistles and propositions as a redhead, but believe me, Ann, when I went blonde my popularity zoomed.

I noticed, too, that the blonder I got the more popular I became. As a honey blonde I did well, but when I hit the platinum shades—WOW!

I married my present husband when I was an ash blonde. Two months later he asked me to go back to my natural shade — plain brown. He said, "Men like to date blondes but they don't want to be married to them."

I agreed and we are getting along fine. No other man ever looks at me now. — THE OLD RESEARCHER.

-:-

Dear Researcher: I am happy to have the results of your survey. A woman who has dyed her hair every color on the chart is fortunate that she has any hair left. If you had continued your research, you also might have learned how men feel about bald-headed women.

Mama's Girl

Dear Ann: Two weeks ago I married a wonderful fellow. We spent five glorious days in Florida on our honeymoon. We never had any serious spats during our two-year engagement, so I believed this was good evidence we would get along well together after marriage.

Well, maybe I was wrong. We had the biggest fight of our lives on the third day of our honeymoon. The reason: I telephoned my mother three times.

My husband said he had no idea I was such a mama's girl. I'm very close to my parents and see no reason for him to be upset. I just wanted my folks to know I was thinking of them.

Is it wrong for a girl to be considerate of her parents after marriage? — R.N.C.

-:-

Dear R.N.C.: It's indeed admirable of a bride to telephone her parents while on her honeymoon but three calls in three days is two calls too many.

You overdid it, Chicken. He's got a right to wonder about such frequent contact.

Opened Big Mouth

Dear Ann: I'm a soldier who is stationed near a small town. I met a girl at the USO center and we had one date.

Unfortunately, I brought her home two hours late. Her parents were waiting up and they were boiling mad. I had an argument with her father and swore at him a little. He told me to get out of the house and never to show my face around there again. The girl was grounded for a month.

I see the girl at the USO center very often and I'm dying to take her out again. She says her folks would never allow it. I'm willing to go to her house and apologize but she says I had better stay away because her Dad is still sore.

Must people pay forever for one little mistake? I'm sorry and I want to square things. Can you help? — P.F.C.

Dear P. F. C.: Sorry, but I can't work up much sympathy for a guy who brings his date home two hours late and then swears at the girl's father.

Everything has a price tag and you'll have to pay for your big mouth. Next time don't let your tongue go on active duty when your brains are on furlough.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Girl Succeeds With Tutor's Help

It's always a pleasure to read reports by parents on what they consider successes. Of her daughter, with two younger brothers, a mother writes from Ontario, Canada: "First let me say that I have long been a constant reader of your column. My children have been read to since they were toddlers. I've also found your chair-sitting effective. Furthermore, I have tried to limit TV watching and the programs watched. Karen is a high-strung imaginative day-dreamer and non-aggressive. She had a poor start at school, unfortunately, in the first grade. She took Jewish lessons (five hours a week) and ballet.

Dr. Garry Meyers

"FOR THE FIRST five months, she got her English backwards and her Hebrew backwards and became so sick we finally pulled her out of Hebrew. By the end of the year, the schoolteacher seemed pleased with her progress and she completed the three units with her class.

In the second grade, her report cards reported that she was a polite little girl, a bit immature, but that her work was improving. Her second report card said, too, that she was improving.

"This year she was also taking after school 6½ hours a week of Hebrew and Religion (Mondays, Wednesdays and Sundays). At Easter, we received a note from her teacher saying that, because of her slow progress, she would only complete two units instead of three.

"Immediately thereupon I took her to her pediatrician, who has known her as both a friend and doctor. Let me now tell you that she stood at the top of her Hebrew classes which is no easy thing to do. On the doctor's suggestion, I worked with her the final months (even through her tears and outbursts). She is so improved that she finished Unit 6.

ALSO ON THE doctor's suggestion we hired a tutor, one that the school recommended. Karen took 1½ hours, 5 days a week all through summer. Our doctor felt that she needed successes to succeed at school work.

"At home, homework that should take half an hour will take over one hour. When she went back to school, she was about a month advanced of her class but a little slow in reading. We practice reading a half hour each night.

"We have allowed her ballet lessons if she stays in the first half of her class."

My reply in part:

It seems that, with the help of your pediatrician and tutor, you have helped your daughter greatly with her learning.

But I kept wondering, as I read your letter, whether you are not stimulating, even pressuring, that little girl too much. While it's grand for her to learn Hebrew and to take ballet lessons, to do these, and with excellence, in addition to her regular school work, could be very strenuous.

ASK YOUR DOCTOR about the matter.

I hope she has opportunities to relax and play normally with other children of her age, that she does a few chores at home she can't escape and learns to finish them.

Try to have more fun in the family with this promising child.

My bulletin, "The Nervous Child" and "Parents Can Help Child Succeed at School", may be secured by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

OSU Aide Addresses Demonstration Group

LISBON — Twenty - six leaders attended a training session for township home demonstration groups Tuesday afternoon at St. George's Parish Hall.

Mrs. Pauline Hall, nutritionist at Ohio State University, discussed "Meal Planning With Frozen Foods."

Leaders will now hold sessions with each local home demonstration group in the county in the coming months, according to Floyd Lower, county extension agent.

Clarkson Bible Class Now Planned Tuesday

A weekly Bible class which was scheduled Tuesday night with Mr. and Mrs. Don Hole of Clarkson was postponed because of the weather. The group will meet next Tuesday with the Holes.

Mrs. Thomas Kelly of near Clarkson is ill with influenza.

Mrs. Alice Crawford of Clarkson remains ill at Salem City Hospital.

Press-News Guild Votes To OK Pact

CLEVELAND (AP) — Newspaper Guildsmen at the Cleveland Press and News have voted to accept management's latest two-year contract proposal provided certain conditions are met.

Outcome of the members' secret ballot Wednesday was 134-92 for acceptance of the full-package proposal. The vote also carried provisions that the proposal be made retroactive to Nov. 1 and that no union members lose their jobs.

Louis B. Seltzer, editor of the Press and News, said the amendments for retroactivity and job security will be acceptable to management.

Guild leaders estimated the offer provided a wage package of about $9.35 over the two years. Guild negotiators had recommended rejection of the package proposal on the grounds it fell short of the $10, two-year settlements made by the non-striking Pressmen and Paperhandlers.

The Guild is one of five unions on strike against the Press and News and the Plain Dealer, which have been shut down for 77 days.

Guildsmen at the Plain Dealer are expected to vote on management's newest contract proposal either Friday or Saturday. Their acceptance, which is expected, would, in effect, end the Guild strike.

Boy Scout Group Appoints Committee On Nominations

Milton Reese of Hill Blvd. was appointed chairman of the nominating committee for the Cherokee District Boy Scout committee at a meeting Tuesday night at the Chester American Legion home.

His committee will include Don Theiss, district training chairman; Paul Calhoun of the camping committee; Dale Hoyt, institutional representative of Cub Pack 25; Don Ramsey, chairman of the organization committee, and Bill Jones, assistant district commissioner for roundtables.

A district chairman and two vice chairmen will be elected in June.

Tom Snow, district chairman, presided.

The Scouters Training Institute, a special course for district personnel, will be March 23 at Kent State University. Applications may be obtained from Robert Gray, district executive, or members of the district committee.

Members were asked to send nominations to the Columbiana Council office at Lisbon for men they believe should receive the district and council awards. Men who are to receive veterans awards also should make application to the office.

The annual district awards dinner was discussed. No date was set. Gray reported on the working relationship of the various committees to the commissioner staff and the district executive.

Plans were made to reregister all 60 units in the district, plus three new units being formed.

Tompos Submits Bill Against Strip Mines

A bill that would prohibit strip mining of coal in West Virginia has been introduced in the legislature in Charleston by State Sen. William Tompos of Weirton.

Proposed penalties would range from up to 72 hours in jail and a $100 fine for the first offense to six months and a $500 fine for third and subsequent offenses.

Tompos is a Democrat, representing the 1st Senatorial District, which includes Hancock County.

Court Rejects Plea, Ohio Slayer Must Die

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Donald L. Reinbolt, 30, must die in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair March 15. The Ohio Supreme Court rejected his appeal and set the date Wednesday.

The date for execution of Reinbolt, convicted of the Aug. 28, 1961, holdup-slaying of Columbus grocer Edgar L. Weaver, 69, is one month to the day after Friday night's scheduled electrocution of Cleveland slayer Robert Griffin, 43.

Ohio Student Killed

DAYON, Ohio (AP) — Walter L. Brandewie, 31, a sophomore at the University of Dayton, died Wednesday when his car crashed into a retainer wall in the near downtown Dayton area. Authorities said they believe the victim may have suffered a heart attack.
